DIRECTORS MEET.

Wisconsin Cranberry Association
Arranges for Winter Meeting.

A meeting of the officers of the Wisconsin Cranberry Growers Association was held at the office of Judge John A. Gaynor on Sunday for the purpose of making the arrangements for the winter meeting which the association holds every season. The date set for the meeting was Tuesday, January 13th, in the council rooms in the city of Grand Rapids. The program of the meeting will be substantially as follows:

President's address—Chas. Briere.
Secretary's report—W. H. Fitch.
Science and Art of Cranberry Growing—John A. Gaynor.

Past, present and future of the Cranberry—D. R. Barr.
Fruit growing organization of California—E. C. Bennett.

Best methods of handling water—C. S. Whittelsey.

The Question Box. Answers to the following questions are requested: Are smaller packages than barrels desirable? How many grades are deemed advisable? Definition of terms in cranberry growing? Establishment of a cranberry journal? How late in the fall should flooding be done? How early in the spring should water be taken off? What percent of "defective" berries ought to take same out of the class "sound" berries? Individual yield of growers as compared with last year? Comparative crops in the vicinity of shipping station.

In view of the fact that it is proposed to have laws passed concerning the grading and handling of cranberries it is imperative that there should be as full an attendance as possible at this meeting. Those who cannot possibly attend are advised to send their views by communication.

Another matter that will be taken up at this meeting will be the matter of making cranberry exhibits at the St. Louis and Louisiana fairs in 1903 and 1904. There will probably be no better way of letting the general public know what is being done in the way of cranberry culture than by making a desirable exhibit at these institutions, and it would seem no more than just that the state should make a small appropriation for the purpose of furthering the work, as the magnitude of the cranberry business and the rapid increase in its growth are matters that are worth the consideration of all.

Officers Elected.

The stockholders of the Electric and Water company held their annual meeting at the city hall Tuesday evening and all of the old directors were reelected for the ensuing year. They are Herman Wipperfurth, J. A. Gaynor, Fred Kruger, Geo. M. Hill and John Schnabel.

The report of the secretary was read and accepted. The report shows that during the past year there has been invested in improvements the sum of $17,000, which of course necessitated the borrowing of some money, but in spite of this fact the company is in a very flourishing condition with bright prospect for the future.

Married.

On Wednesday, November 13th, W. H. Getts presiding, at the office of the judge in this city, Mr. Fristam Warren to Nellie Bauman, both of the town of Rome. As the groom gave his age as 69 years and the bride 38 the judge concluded that they were old enough to know their mind and tied the knot without delay. Mr. Warren is a farmer of Adams county where the newly wedded pair will make their home.

"The Peddler's Claim," the new four act comedy drama, is so full of strong dramatic climaxes that the audience hardly get over the effects of one dramatic scene when they find themselves wondering at a much stronger one. Too much cannot be said of both this play and Sam Morris the bright comedian who plays the part of Moses Levi, a part that Mr. Morris has made a careful study of. All the scenery is carried by this company and the cast to support Mr. Morris is a very strong one. "The Peddler's Claim" will be at the Grand opera house on Next Tuesday, November 25th.

High School Notes.

Last Tuesday morning Mr. Youker very ably addressed the school on the subject of the "Bradstreet Commercial Agency." He spoke briefly of the early history of the agency, and of the great dislike for it at first, but also how it grew until now it is a very important factor of the commercial world. Mr. Youker stated that nearly every failure of recent occurrence had been predicted by the agency, and although so many are failing every day it is very surprising that more do not fail. He said that the amount of credit given to a man was based largely on his reputation for honesty and ability, or in other words upon his character.

The Physics class had a test last Tuesday morning on the subject of Hydraulics and the Mechanics of fluids.

Miss Alice Sanders made a short visit to her home at Saratoga last Friday and returned Sunday.

Mr. Dopp was absent from school duties several days last week because of sickness.

The Seniors had a test in American history last Wednesday morning.

Monday the school did work in mental arithmetic for morning exercises.

The examination for the semi term will begin on Wednesday afternoon.

The class of 1903 held a special class meeting Monday night.

After the Hunters.

After careful consideration and much discussion of the proper means to secure exemption from the inroads of hunting and camping parties and protection for their stock and families, a number of representative land owners in and around Auburndale and Arpin have formed what will be known as the "Mill Creek Creamery Club" for the purpose of excluding all hunters from their lands unless they wish to issue permits. The plan aims more especially to keep out the hunting parties of non-residents who flock to this section during the deer season and overrun the farms as well the wild lands, and residents of this district and friends of the club members will be given written permission to hunt on the forbidden ground.

The organization now numbers among its charter members nearly forty heavy land owners in the vicinity of Arpin and Auburndale covering one of the best tracts of hunting ground remaining in the country. The desire to keep out hunters arise from the experience of the past two seasons when the farmers in that particular region have not been safe from stray bullets in their own homes and their families have been terrorized and their stock in danger. The owners of the soil believe that they have a right to suppress the hunting within reasonable bounds and are following the scheme used in many of the older settled portions of the country.

As a warning to hunters each member of the club has posted in conspicuous places about his farm signs reading "Hunters take notice, no trespassing allowed on these premises," the signs being one foot square. Written permits will be supplied to neighbors and friends by members of the club and persons so provided will be allowed to hunt at will. An effort is being made to extend the movement and during the deer season the membership will be increased, while there is talk of forming similar clubs in other districts where game still abounds and the farmers are subjected to the danger of loss of life or property.

The officers of the Mill Creek Club are Lorenz Toolner, president; Jay Holland, secretary; John Darnidee, treasurer; Charles Zank and William Prosel, constables during the hunting season.—Marshfield Times.

County Board Still at It.

The county board is still in session at the court house but the members hope to finish up their work this week. There has been a large number of accounts to audit but this would not have delayed matters a great deal as the board can dispose of a large amount of this work in a day.

The figures of the supervisor of assessments were submitted to the board and the valuation throughout the county was placed at about 29 per cent lower than this valuation. This was about the average, although there were departures from this in both directions.

The committee appointed for the purpose of selecting a site for the new poor farm has been discharged from duty, which would indicate that this matter has been dropped by the board for the present at least.

In Mortal Combat.

Merrill Advocate: While out hunting deer one day last week Kunt Severson, of 1404 East Main street, ran onto five bucks engaged in mortal combat. Mr. Severson was attracted to the scene by a great commotion, and walked up within easy range of the enraged denizens of the forest. After looking at the battle a short time he took aim and felled one to ground. The buck had no sooner fallen than another buck picked the dead on his horns and threw him high in the air. Mr. Severson again fired and brought down another one. The rest then discovered the hunter and took to the woods. Mr. Severson says that but for the fact that he was so interested in the furious fight he might have killed the whole bunch.

HAVE SECURED A SITE.

May Have a New Manufactory Established Here Soon.

During the past week George Wettlaufer and A. F. Perry of Stratford, Ontario, have been in this city looking over the place with a view to establishing a factory here. Mr. Wettlaufer is sole owner of a patent arrangement for attaching to a wagon box, by means of which the vehicle may be changed from an ordinary farm wagon with a single box to a double box, a hay rack, stock rack, etc., and from the circular and illustrations it would appear to be a very practical idea.

During their stay here the two gentlemen have been busy looking for a site for a factory and they have secured the promise of the lease of a piece of property from the Wisconsin Central railroad situated across the track from their depot which would be very good for the purpose needed.

It had been the intention of Messrs. Perry and Wettlaufer to locate their plant at LaCrosse, but Mr. Perry came here to visit with Joseph Corriveau and becoming favorably impressed with the town he wrote to his friend of the advantages here and induced him to visit the city. Upon arriving here he found the city to be all that was represented and immediately went about securing a site.

While the gentlemen are contemplating the organization of a stock company nothing will be done along this line until the arrival of samples of the iron on which Mr. Wettlaufer holds the patents. These are the expected the latter part of the week, they having been delayed in transit, when they will be placed on exhibition on the east side for the inspection of those who are interested in the matter.

DENIES SENSATIONAL STORY

"Corney" Wheeler Says Old Soldier Was Not Ill-Treated at Home.

In a special telegram from Grand Rapids, Wis., to a St. Paul paper, a sensational statement by an old soldier giving the name of Daniel T. Horton, a member of Co. A, First Pennsylvania Regiment, relative to alleged ill-treatment at the Milwaukee branch of the National Soldiers' home, is published. The old soldier is quoted as saying that he was "treated like a dog," and that he was locked up and abused in a terrible manner. He declares that he finally succeeded in escaping from the home and making his way to Grand Rapids, Wis.

The telegram was shown to Gov. Cornelius Wheeler of the home and in reply to the statement made, Gov. Wheeler said that Horton was a man more than 80 years of age and was suffering from trouble of a mental nature, not being capable of judging what was being done for him. "During his stay here he was, of course, treated just as well as any other member of the home," said Gov. Wheeler. "He was in no way abused, as that sort of treatment is not permitted here to any inmate. But in his mental condition he became possessed of the idea that everything was wrong, that he was greatly abused, and that he was a prisoner, all of which is a great mistake."

Former United States Senator John L. Mitchell, a member of the board of managers of the National Home, said that he had found on investigation that Horton was well treated in every respect and that his charges are unfounded.—Portage Democrat.

Will Dedicate Church.

The new Lutheran church at Vesper will be dedicated on Sunday next. The ceremonies commence at 9:30 a. m. and the afternoon services at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Baese of the town of Sigel will preach in the forenoon and Rev. Sells of Nekoosa in the afternoon. Ceremonies will be conducted by Rev. J. T. L. Bittner, who will also preach in the English language at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. In order to accommodate those who wish to attend the ceremonies an excursion will be run over the Wisconsin Central from Nekoosa to Vesper, stopping at Port Edwards, South Grand Rapids and Grand Rapids. The train will leave Nekoosa at 8:30 a. m., Port Edwards at 8:40, South Grand Rapids at 8:45, and Grand Rapids at 8:50. Returning the train will leave Vesper at 4:30 p. m., the cost for the round trip being 40 cents.

Died.—Mr. and Mrs. Matt Vandenberg morn the death of their 4 months old boy, Chester, which sad event occurred on Saturday, the little one being a sufferer from stomach trouble. The funeral occurred on Monday, the remains being interred in the Catholic cemetery, Rev. F. VanRoosmalen officiating. The sorrowing parents have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

Ready for Business.—The new wagon factory of the Mackinon Manufacturing company is all ready for business, the motors having been placed in position and the line shafts being up. The machines for the factory have not arrived as yet, however, and it may be some time before they do get here, owing to the fact that they have to be manufactured after the order is received.

Got a Black Bear.—Stephen Snyder brought in a black bear on Saturday that he had killed in the vicinity of Rice Lake. The animal was a fine specimen and weighed 290 pounds after being dressed. The hide of the animal was an especially nice one, being soft and silky and very thick with fur, and would make an especially fine rug. The carcass was sold to N. Reiland the butcher.

Changing Location.—Dr. Chas. Pomainville is having offices fixed up in the Pomainville block over Otto's pharmacy which he will occupy as dental parlors in the near future. In view of the fact that there are three dentists on the east side and none on the west it would seem as if the change were a good one.

Thanksgiving Dance.—There will be a dance at the opera hall on the evening of Thanksgiving, to which the general public is cordially invited. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Grand Rapids brass band under the leader-ship of Emil Lambert. A good time is promised to all who attend.

Play Took Well.—The Metropolitan Stock company met with good success on the occasion of their visit to Pittsville, there being a fair audience present that fully appreciated the merits of the play. The members of the troupe report a very pleasant trip.

Some High Water.—The Wisconsin river has been hovering about the seven foot mark for several days past, and as this is about six feet higher than it has been for some months it seems higher than it really is.

Dance Thanksgiving.—The Catholic order of Foresters are figuring on a ball on the evening of Thanksgiving at their hall on the east side. Good music has been engaged and a good time is anticipated.

Marriage Licenses.

The following marriage licenses were issued by the county clerk during the past week:

Henry F. Baab and Mary Schmaal, both of Marshfield.

Theodore Ommodt and Pearl Anderson, both of the town of Cary.

A. C. Meske and Anna Dalbert, both of Dexterville.

Henry Card and Minnie Sullivan, both of Jabcock.

Joseph R. Lenzmaier and Mary Weinmutter, both of Milladore.

The 1903 Gund Calendar.

The 1903 Calendar, issued by John Gund Brewing Company, of La Crosse, Wis., has been received at this office and we consider it superbly beautiful. The calendar is 22x28 inches, rich in coloring, and eminently artistic, and is destined to become as popular as the famous 1902 Gund Calendar. It will be sent post-paid to the address by the above firm upon receipt of 16c in U. S. Postage.

A Remarkable Machine.

—Our enterprising harnessmaker, Mr. J. H. Landry has recently purchased a Landis hard wax machine.

After ten years of practical experimenting by the inventor, this machine was first placed on the market about seven years ago and therefore is no experiment. It has been improved from year to year since that time until it has reached such a state of perfection that it does better work than it is possible to do by hand.

As compared with hand work the machine uses a smaller awl, larger and stronger thread, twice as much hard wax which is melted and pumped into the stitches making them water proof, more stitches to the inch and every stitch pulled in tighter than is possible by hand.

A man sewing by hand pulls the thread through hole after hole in the leather thus weakening the thread with each stitch taken before it finds its place in the completed work, whereas the machine uses a new piece of thread for each and every stitch.

Buyers of harness on first thought consider all machine made harness as being factory harness, but this is not right, as there is a vast difference between factory made harness and harness made on a Landis machine in Mr. Landry's shop, because he uses better stock and will exercise greater care in selecting the best part of the leather for parts of the harness subjected to the greatest strain; he will also use better thread and give closer attention than the factory to the details which go to make a first class harness.

A representative of the Landis Machine Co., says he has a standing offer to forfeit $1000 if harness made on the Landis machine will not out wear hand work when the same stock is used. The general public is respectfully invited to call at Mr. Landry's shop near the bridge and see this machine work.

Working for Yourself.

Many a man when come to middle life and not prosperous as he had hoped, lays all the blame on luck. He complains that he has had no chance in life. Everything has always been against him. Other successful men have had opportunities that never came to him.

Did these men observe their past life closely, it would often be found that they had missed the opportunities which they had. A boy is sent on an errand. He may loiter on the way. He may neglect to be polite when delivering his errand. Or he may not perform his errand in the manner he was told to. He thus loses an opportunity to make a good impression on the one to whom he has an errand and on the one who employed him for that purpose. He has missed a chance to form good business habits of exactness, promptness and courtesy.

Some young men think that if they can steal a half hour of their employer's time, or shirk a duty, they have made something for themselves. They are missing opportunities for success. These are not habits for which a man is promoted. They cannot follow such manner of working unknown to their employers. A wrong spirit in their work is sure to betray itself. The employer knows who is earnest and zealous in business. Every employee is working for himself all the time; he is doing the best he can for himself.

Every young man has an opportunity to save a little salary. If his salary is small, he should spend little. He can dress plainly, and spend little in amusements and self-indulgence. The habit of self-denial gives a strength to character which is an important factor in gaining success.

All these things may seem small to one, but they have a great significance. Life is made up of small things. Little things of daily and hourly occurrence are the things which form our characters. Great things do not frequently happen to one. Be careful about the small things and you will be ready to take advantage of the great, if such come. If the great never does come yet are you farther on the road to reach your aim, than if careless in small matters.

Editor Told The Truth

An exchange tells a sad story of a Missouri editor who announced that for one issue of his weekly paper he would tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. Here are a few items from that issue:

"John Bonin, the laziest merchant in town, made a trip to Bellevue yesterday. John Doyle, our grocery man, is doing poor business. His store is dirty, dusty and noisily odoriferous. How can he expect to do much? Rev. Styx preached Sunday night on charity. The sermon was punk. If the reverend gentlemen would live up a little closer to what he preaches he'd have bigger congregations. Dave Sonky died last Saturday at his home in this place. The doctor gave it out as heart failure. The fact is, he was drunk, and whisky is what killed him. His home was a rented shack in Roudy street. Married—Miss Sylvia Rhodes and James Canahan, last Saturday evening at the Baptist parsonage. The bride is a very ordinary town girl who doesn't know any more than a rabbit about cooking and who never helped her mother three days in her life. She is not a beauty by any means and has a gait like a fat duck. The groom is well known here as an up to date loafer. He has been living off the old folks all his life and don't amount to much. They will have a hard life while they live together and the News has no congratulations to offer, for we don't believe any good can come from such a union."

The issue in which the Missouri editor told the truth was the last ever printed. Now, in springtime, when the diamonds sparkle in the tender grass and sweet-throated birds make melody all the day, subscribers to his paper while it was published drive out into the country a short way to catch a glimpse of a piece of black skin which hangs suspended from a barbed wire fence. It is all that remains of the once manly form of the Missouri editor who "told the truth for one week!"

Premiums Didn't Come.

The "magazine premium" graft, of which numerous Pipestone people have heard before, has just been successfully worked at Red Wing, Minn., and the Daily Republican says: "Several Red Wing housewives are anxiously awaiting the arrival of sets of dishes, dining room tables and gold watches they ordered through an alleged magazine publishing company some months ago. Some citizens put up as much as $7 in order to get the magazine and the valuable prizes. Several months ago two well dressed young men spent considerable time here soliciting subscriptions for a magazine, the price of which was 10 cents a copy. That is the last heard of these solicitors in this city. They have worked other towns, however, and now complaints are coming in from all quarters. The police here have received numerous 'kicks' and are hoping to locate the men. The magazine is supposed to be published in New York city but the name of it is not given. With every subscription a certificate of guarantee for the delivery of the premiums was given.—Pipestone Co. Star.

It is said that every bride has many friends, but in a few years they dwindle down to one. That's Rocky Mountain Tea. Makes and keeps her well. 25 cents at Johnson & Hill Company.

Wants it Made Compulsory.

Captain F. Heineken, in a letter to The Milwaukee Sentinel, in reply to Senator McGillivray's plan for a republican caucus to agree on some form of a primary election, brings out a suggestion which it would be well for the legislature to formulate into a law.

"This law should make registration of every citizen of the state of legal age and residence compulsory. If he fails to vote at a caucus or primary election fine him $1. If he fails to vote on election day, without good cause shown for such neglect, fine him $2. Charge these fines up with his taxes if he be a property holder, and if he be not a property holder, let him either pay up his fine, or in default strike his name from the poll list until he reinstates himself as a voter by payment of such fine.

In every county in Wisconsin there are hundreds of persons who neglect their duties as American citizens and remain at home on election day. They think more of making 15 or 20 cents than they do of exercising their right of suffrage. Many of them left European homes to better their condition and to get away from working over half of their time for the purpose of supporting large armies and the nobility. When given an opportunity in this country to have a voice in public matters they ignore the chance. No better way, it seems, could be adopted to educate this class of citizens than to fine them for neglect of duty. Under the present system a voter who takes an interest in public matters and votes is taxed for highway purposes. Reverse it, and make the man who fails to vote pay the tax.

Purifying Water by Electricity.

A large syndicate has been formed and is now preparing to exploit the process of purifying water by the means of the electric current. The patent is that of C. E. Holland, of New York, and the company is the Electric Purification Company. An experimental plant has been in operation for some time at Chartiers Creek, near Pittsburgh, where the practicability of the system has been fully demonstrated, and a proposition will be made to the city of Pittsburgh to purify a portion of the city's supply at first, and then all of it, and after this an effort will be made to introduce the system in other large cities. The inventor says that the cost of an electrical plant for this purpose, capable of supplying 75,000,000 gallons per day would not cost more than $100,000, and after the installation of the plant the cost of purifying the water, as near as can be figured on the basis of the small plant now in operation, would be about 28 cents for a million gallons.—Scientific American.

The notorious ship-subsidy bill is again heard of on all sides. It is said that the advisability of its passage will be considered by the republicans in a caucus to be held early in the session. It is recognized that the measure is most unpopular with the majority of the voters, but its advocates urge that if it is passed immediately after Congress convenes, the people will have forgotten all about it before another election takes place and the pressure to pass the iniquitous measure is most urgent.

A Violent Attack of Croup Cured.

"Last winter an infant child of had croup in a violent form," says Elder John W. Rogers, a Christian Evangelist, of Pile, Mo. "I gave her a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and in a short time all danger was passed and the child recovered." This remedy not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the first symptoms appear, will prevent the attack. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as an adult. For sale by Johnson & Hill Co. and Wood County Drug Co.

—A play of more than passing interest will be presented on next Tuesday, Nov. 25th at the Grand opera house. It is indeed a treat to think that at least we will be given an opportunity of seeing a new character on the stage. While the character of Moses Levi is that of a Hebrew, still Mr. Morris plays the part in a most artistic manner, and in no way burlesques the race. "The Peddler's Claim" affords great chances for scenic effects and Manager Marks has been very liberal in giving his star a complete production.

Notice of Application.

Wood County Court.

STATE OF WISCONSIN, ss.

County of Wood, ss.

In the matter of the estate of Oscar Balch, deceased.

On this 11th day of November, A. D. 1902, upon reading and filing the petition of South Bluff Cranberry Company among other things stating that Oscar Balch of the county of Wood, died intestate, on or about the 15th day of January, 1874, more than four years ago leaving no personal property and praying that the heirs of said Oscar Balch be determined.

It is ordered, That said application be heard before me, at the probate office in the city of Grand Rapids, in said Wood county, on the 30th day of December, A. D. 1902 at ten o'clock a. m.

And it is further ordered, That notice of the time and place appointed for hearing said application be given to all persons interested, by publishing a copy of this order for three weeks successively in the Grand Rapids Tribune, a newspaper printed in said county, previous to the time appointed for said hearing.

By the court, W. J. CONWAY, County Judge.

Where to Buy Shoes.

It is well to remember that there is a good store where you can get the best shoe service. Some day you will want a pair in a hurry and you may not know where to go.

This is the place to get the best the market affords at the least possible outlay. We do not keep shoddy shoes—neither do we charge fancy prices.

This is the all around satisfactory place to buy shoes. Remember!

Man and His Horse.

Every man should, for himself, his family and his horse) keep on hand some antiseptic healing dressing that will quickly relieve pain; subdue local inflammation; heal scratches, chafes, chaps, cuts and open wounds; cure bruises, burns, scalds, frostbite, rashes and sores; relieve strains, sprains, swellings, muscle soreness, stiff or lame back or neck, rheumatism, neuralgia, the little hurts of childhood, and the accidents and ails of every day life.

Such a remedy is Greene's Infallible Liniment, an honest medicine made to sell on its real merits and give such satisfaction as to make friends and keep them. It is equally good for man or beast. Once introduced into the home, the stable, the gymnasium or the training quarters, it becomes a standby to be used with confidence. A bottle of it is its own best advertisement, and all the proof of its utility and merit required. All who use it speak well of it.

"Greene's Infallible Liniment has done me a world of good. I shall always have a supply on hand for use." W. A. Lange, ex-fighter C. B. H. Club.

"I have found from experience that Greene's Liniment is one of the best." F. S. Gorton.
"I consider Greene's Liniment valuable for muscle soreness, sprains, bruises, wounds, cuts and scratches. It is economical because only a little is required. My experience justifies me in giving it strong endorsement." Albert H. Merrill.
Mr. Wm. R. Wyllie, Supt. Cason Stock Farm, Will County, Ill., writes:—"I have used nearly every liniment on the market but find yours in a class by itself. It does all you claim for it."

Mr. Judd E. Hisey, Chicago, says:—"I have kept your liniment in my house. It has in all instances proven satisfactory to my family and myself."

"I have used Greene's Liniment on my horses and find it excellent." E. A. Lord, Chicago, Ill.

"Has given far better results than any liniment ever used." W. H. Flagg, Fairbairn, Minn.

"I have used Greene's Liniment and find it. It will remove soreness and help lame horses." Vance Nauks, Greenville, Ohio.

"There is no better article for general use than Greene's Liniment." George E. Mason, Chicago, Ill.

"I have used Greene's Infallible Liniment on sore tendons, wind pull and scratches with the very best results. I consider it one of the best liniments made, and recommend it to all horsemen." J. H. Miller, LaCrosse, Wis.

Druggists keep it or will get it for you if you ask them to. Accept no substitute. There is no liniment that will take its place and do its work, neither like it or "just as good." The makers, J. W. Greene & Co., 17 Van Buren St., Chicago, Ill., to prove its worth, will send a large free sample in return for this advertisement and 10c. to cover cost of mailing. The regular price is 25c., 50c. and $1.00 a bottle.

A big haul by highwaymen, substitutes and other others who steal the good name and fame of Rocky Mountain Tea made famous by Madison Medicine Co. 35 cents at Johnson & Hill Company.

Walter Dixon lost a valuable horse from his livery stable on Thursday night, the animal dying from some ailment. Mr. Dixon was in the northern part of the state hunting at the time so did not know of his loss until he returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schiller of Aldorf left on Sunday for Switzerland, their old home, where they expect to visit for a while and if they like it there they will make that country their home. They formerly lived in Switzerland.

Jacob Bord and Peter Moberg were down from Glidden on Saturday, returning there the following Monday. They reported that there had fallen six inches of snow in that locality within the past few days, and that people were traveling about on runners.

Henry Mathews, who has been visiting with friends and relatives for the past two months, started yesterday morning for his home at Kansasville where he is employed in a store. Henry has made many friends in the city who will be pleased to see him on his next vacation.

Wisner & Passer have got their cigar store and factory open to the public and they have a very neat place. Both members of the firm are practical workmen in their line and will no doubt make a success of their venture. They occupy the store building formerly used by Will Gross as a grocery store.

A gang of men have been at work during the past week when the weather would permit under the supervision of Engineer Philco engaged in putting down wells on the property south of the pumping station. Mr. Philco states that the evidences point toward an abundant supply in the near future, which is welcome news to all.

The rainy weather of the latter part of last week disgusted many of the hunters who had come up into northern Wisconsin and many of them were seen on their way home on Thursday and Friday without anything to show for their trip. While this may have proven very disappointing to the hunters it will no doubt have a tendency to make the deer more plentiful next season.

James Chamberlain was at City Point the forepart of the week hunting deer when he received a message stating that his boy was quite sick. Not being able to get a train that night he chartered a handcar and with the aid of the section men made the trip from City Point to Grand Rapids in about an hour. This is pretty good time for a handcar, but Jim is ready to vouch for the truth of the statement.

Word received from Green Bay on Friday told of the death of Walter Graves who has been employed at Nekeosa for some time past as a assistant bookkeeper. Cause of death was typhoid fever, and the young man had been sick for some time. Mr. Graves had many friends at Nekeosa and also in this city who were greatly grieved to hear of his demise. Mr. Graves' relatives live at Green Bay and the funeral was held there.

—Some years ago while at Martinsburg, W. Va. I was taken with cholera morbus, which was followed by diarrhoea. The doctor's medicine did me no good. I was advised to get a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I did, and it cured me sound and well.—G. A. Morris, Embreeville, Pa. Sold by Johnson & Hill Co. and Wood County Drug Co.

Will and Dennis Conway came down from the neighborhood of Harshaw on Monday evening, having been hunting deer. They reported that their crowd had succeeded in capturing five deer and that they were going to stay for some time yet. Will expects to return to the woods on Thursday but Dennis had apparently had all of this kind of hunting that he cared for. Will reports that there are a large number of wolves in that vicinity and that the campers had killed several of them.

—One big load of dry kindling wood delivered to any part of the city for $1.25. BADGER BOX & LUMBER Co. Telephone No. 314.

In some parts of Wisconsin and other states the farmers are organizing clubs to better their conditions, and it will be interesting to watch the results. Each club is to be composed of twelve families in the neighborhood. They intend to hold meetings twice a month, each family entertaining the club twice a year, all the meetings to be held at the homes of the members. In the forenoon of the day of meeting the men examine the farm of the one at whose house they meet, discuss, approve or criticize his methods. In the afternoon the ladies discuss their work and at night the young folks have their exercises of a musical and literary nature. The plan is certainly a good one if all will do their work with proper spirit.

Among the callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday was Peter Brown of Snohomish, who has been in the city the past ten days attending to some business matters. Mr. Brown was one of the early settlers in Wood county having first visited this section in 1866, and the stories he can tell of the condition of things in those days are very interesting to one who is comparatively new to the country. In the sixties the west side was almost a trackless wilderness, and where the business portion now stands there was little more than swamp that no man would have cared to accept and pay taxes on. Mr. Brown remained here until four years ago, since which time he has been a resident of Washington. He has engaged in stock raising there and has met with good success and considers that he has a good future before him. Mr. Brown was quite a sufferer from rheumatism before he left Wood county but since his sojourn in Washington he has not been troubled any, and one would not think to look at him that he had reached the age of sixty-two years.

Jumped on a Ten Penny Nail.

The little daughter of Mr. J. N. Powell jumped on an inverted rake made of ten penny nails, and thrust one nail entirely through her foot and the second one half way through. Chamberlain's Pain Balm was promptly applied and five minutes later the pain had disappeared and no more suffering was experienced. In three days the child was wearing her shoe as usual and with absolutely no discomfort. Mr. Powell is a well known merchant of Forkland, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and heals such injuries without maturation and in one-third the time required by the usual treatment. For sale by Johnson & Hill and Wood County Drug Co.

TRAINS IN COLLISION.

Railway Traffic Into La Crosse Is Delayed for Several Hours by the Smashup.

La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Work was received in this city that two freight trains, one in charge of Engineer Max Rudloff, came together head end last night at Rockland, near West Salem. This is a part of the road where the new double track has been put in and it is said that both trains were on the same track. Engineer Rudloff, who was killed, lived at Columbus. He was about 25 years old and had just been promoted, this being his second trip as engineer.

PIONEERS CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dassi of Portage Receiving Congratulations—Oldest Singer at Saengerfest.

Portage, Wis., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. John B. Dassi are celebrating their golden wedding today. This evening a public reception will be given them in the Gill-Waterman building. Mr. and Mrs. Dassi are among the pioneer residents of Portage. Mr. Dassi was born in Cervineto, Lombardy, Italy, February 11, 1825, and came to America in 1850, settling in Milwaukee. He was married there to Marie Margarete Dassi, a native of Bavaria. She was born February 2, 1827. They came to this city November 6, 1854, and in 1856 they returned to Milwaukee, where they resided until 1860 when they came back to Portage. Mr. Dassi served as justice of the peace for four years; alderman of the Fourth ward two years, and supervisor two terms. He organized the Portage Liederkreis society in 1860 and served as its first director. Last July he attended the Saengerfest at Merrill and sang with the Portage society, having the distinction of being the oldest active member present. He was for many years organist at St. Mary's Catholic church. He is engaged in the wall paper and music business.

MAYOR CAN'T RESIGN.

City Government of Augusta Disrupted on Account of Mayor Eck's Action.

St. Claire, Wis., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The municipal government of Augusta, this county, is well known as a result of Mayor Eck's resignation. He was especially vigilant in suppressing Lullowen disorder and caused the arrest of four boys, sons of leading citizens. The boys had been caught ringing the school house bell at 2 a. m. The city council met and protested against the prosecutions and the mayor was waited on by many citizens who insisted that the mayor finally withdraw the complaints and resign. Since that time he has called a special meeting of the council several times to act on his resignation, but the aldermen refused to attend. He called another meeting for last night, but the aldermen failed to answer. Now he insists on a meeting tonight to settle the matter. He persists in his resignation, while the council and citizens want him to remain in office and forget the trouble.

RACINE FACTORY BURNED.

PLANT OF NOVELTY COMPANY DESTROYED BY FIRE.

High Wind Spread the Flames and Threatened Other Buildings—Loss is $20,000.

Racine, Wis., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The plant of the Racine Novelty Company last night. The loss is between $20,000 and $25,000, with insurance covering only part of the amount. With a strong west wind blowing the fire threatened to be even more destructive. Sparks from the burning building were carried to other manufacturing plants and many residences near by, but all the fires started were put out in time. The factory was a frame building three stories high. It was burned to the ground.

JURY DISAGREED.

Judge Puts O. C. Gilder on the Stand and Gives Him Some Good Advice.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The jury was out four and a half hours yesterday afternoon in the case of the state versus O. C. Gilder, for assault with a knife on William Hays of Oshkosh. The case was heard in the circuit court for Crawford county, before Judge Clementson, who, upon receiving a report of disagreement from the jury, took the matter in his own hands. Gilder was asked to take the stand and the judge proceeded to give him some good, sound advice, after which he released him on his own recognizance until the May term of court. The case created much interest and the court room was filled.

THE SUPERVISOR OF ASSESSMENT RESIGNS.

Columbia County Board Refuses to Allow Mr. Haight's Bill in Full.

Portage, Wis., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—A row in the county board yesterday culminated in the resignation of Supervisor of Assessments E. E. Haight, after the board had decided by a vote of 10 to 4 not to allow his bill in full. Mr. Haight filed a bill for 200 days' services at $4 per day, a total of $800. Besides some expense items which brought the total up to $1075.10. The board disallowed $245. The board passed a resolution instructing the supervisor of assessments for the ensuing year not to devote more than ninety days to such service. This resolution called forth Mr. Haight's resignation.

NEARLY ELECTROCUTED.

Caledonia Farmer's Horse Killed by Electric Wire, Which Knocked His Hat Off.

Racine, Wis., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—John Linsanen, a prominent farmer in the town of Caledonia, had a narrow escape from being electrocuted. He was driving to the city and in attempting to cross the tracks of the Milwaukee, Racine & Kenosha Electric railway, a live wire which had been broken down, struck one of his horses in the forehead, killing it instantly. The wire passed within an inch of Linsanen's head, and swinging back over his head, knocked off his hat. Mr. Linsanen will bring suit for damages against the company for $200, the value of the horse.

WILL ENDOW SCHOOL.

Madison Man Says That $50,000 will be Donated for Proposed Institution.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—It is stated today by Dr. P. H. Edsall, who has been active in securing the Carnegie gift of $75,000 for a city library, that a gentleman outside this city, whom he declines to name, stands ready to endow with $50,000 a state library school as an adjunct to the library.

ALLEGED HOTEL THIEVES.

Oshkosh Police Think They Made Important Capture.

Oshkosh, Wis., Nov. 15.—The Oshkosh police think they have made an important capture in the persons of two men who gave their names as T. Hall and J. P. Langdon, who were arrested by Detective Ragsdale at the Tremont house and who are thought to be professional hotel thieves. Langdon was caught in the act of opening a trunk owned by H. L. Mason, a traveling salesman, who carries diamonds valued at $1000, but then in the hotel safe. Hall and Langdon gave their residence as Milwaukee.

SQUAWS PULL HAIR.

They Fight in Court at Seymour Over a Case.

Seymour, Wis., Nov. 15.—Enraged because sentence had been passed upon her sister, Jane Williams, seized Rachel Wheelock by the hair in Justice James Dean's court and pulled with might and main until the pair were separated. For this offense the Williams woman was sentenced to four months in the county jail. Katie John, the sister, had just been found guilty of attempting to poison and beat Rachel Wheelock and sentenced to thirty days in the county jail.

TWO DEATHS AT RACINE.

R. T. Gibbs and Mrs. M. W. Pushee Pass Away.

Racine, Wis., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Robert T. Gibbs, aged 60 years, resident of Racine for fifty-six years, died this morning at his home in the town of Calumet.

COMPULSORY TREATMENT.

Efford to be Made to Force Cure of Drunkards.

Racine, Wis., Nov. 15.—At the next session of the Legislature there will be presented a bill providing for the compulsory treatment of inebriety through the orders of a court. The bill is being drawn for Dr. F. B. Hargreaves of the Racine sanitarium, and calls for the construction of a state sanitarium.

Governor's Thanksgiving Day Proclamation.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Gov. La Follette has announced his Thanksgiving day proclamation as follows:

"By authority of law and in harmony with the proclamation by the President of the United States, I, Robert M. La Follette, governor of the state of Wisconsin, hereby designate and set apart Thursday, November 27, 1903, as a day of Thanksgiving. That day I recommend as one of rest from usual occupations by the people of Wisconsin, to be dedicated by them through thanksgiving to God in becoming appreciation of the manifold blessings of peace, prosperity and material progress, with humanity from widespread affliction or great public disaster, throughout another year.

"In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state of Wisconsin to be affixed.

"Done at the capitol in the city of Madison this tenth day of November in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and two.

"ROBERT M. LA FOLLETTE,
"William H. Froehlich,"
Secretary of State.

SUPPOSED CORPSE RESTORED TO LIFE.

Verne Tuttle, a Savanna Brakeman, Thought to be Dead, Saved by Wonderful Operation.

La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Verne Tuttle, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy brakeman who was struck by a ledge and supposed to have been killed, seems to be on the way to recovery. News received here states that he was made ready for burial when a spark of life appeared.

Tuttle was on the top of a freight train when he was badly injured about the head by being struck by a bridge near Potomac. His skull was badly battered and his comrades gave him up for dead. When he had been home at Savanna a short time surgeons came and after much hard work took out part of the bone of the skull. So firmly wedged in was the injured portion that it took the combined strength of three men to remove it. A silver plate was inserted and as the brain was not injured he will probably recover.

HELD FOR KILLING HIS STEPDAUGHTER.

John McFarlane of Ashland Alleged to Have Thrown Lamp Which Set Her on Fire.

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 14.—John McFarlane was bound over to the circuit court on a charge of manslaughter. McFarlane is accused of killing his stepdaughter, Miss Myrtle Boyle. It seems from the evidence introduced at the preliminary hearing that McFarlane and his wife had an altercation of some kind and that McFarlane threw a lamp at his wife. Mrs. McFarlane's daughter, Miss Boyle, interposed and was struck by the lamp. Her clothing caught fire and she was so badly burned that she died shortly after.

TWO CHARGED WITH BURGLARIZING STORE.

Manitowoc Young Men are Suspected of Being Connected with Several Other Robberies.

Manitowoc, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—William Gillette and Peter Sieple, two young men of this city, were this morning held for trial in bonds of $500 each on a charge of burglarizing the hardware store of Rand & Roemer. Two buttons claimed to have been torn from the coat of one of the accused and a large number of pennies supposed to have been taken from the safe are strong evidence against the young men. The police will try to show that the men have been guilty of a long series of robberies.

LIGHTNING STUNS SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Pupils and Teacher Rendered Unconscious and Building Set on Fire—Rescued by Workmen.

Orono, Wis., Nov. 14.—The schoolhouse in the town of Little River was struck by lightning in a thunderstorm and burned to the ground. Miss Edna McLaughlin, the teacher, and the pupils were all stunned by the shock and were rescued unconscious from the burning building by a gang of laborers. One of the children, a little girl, is badly burned about the body, but will recover. One of the laborers who had taken shelter in the building had one shoe completely riddled with holes by the bolt, but escaped unhurt.

RIVERS ARE RISING.

Continued Rains in Northwestern Wisconsin Causes Very High Water—Bridge Carried Away.

St. Claire, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Rivers are rising on account of the continued heavy rains. It is reported that the temporary bridge of the new Omaha railroad on the Yellow river has gone out.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The railway bridge of the Omaha road's new extension across the Yellow river was carried out by a log jam this morning. Steady rain for four days has raised all streams.

SHOT FIRED INTO CAR.

Several Passengers are Cut by Flying Glass.

Racine, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—A bullet was fired through a window of a train on the North-Western near here at 4:20 yesterday afternoon. The train was near Waukegan, Ill., when there was a crash of glass and several of the passengers were hit by the flying glass. Ben Scanlon, a sign painter of this city, was struck in the right eye by a piece of glass which penetrated the orb. Two women were slightly cut.

BRADFORD A CANDIDATE.

Augusta Assemblyman-Elect Wants to be Speaker.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 14.—Irvin B. Bradford of Augusta, assemblyman-elect of the Second district of Eau Claire county, is a candidate for the speakership at the coming session. Mr. Bradford has already had the honor of presiding over the Assembly, having served as speaker during the session of 1891.

MAY CLEAR UP CRIME.

SKELETON OF A MAN FOUND NEAR GRAND RAPIDS.

Charles Mitch Supposed to Have Been Murdered Years Ago for His Money.

Grand Rapids, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—A skeleton of a man buried in the sand was found by two sons of August Kemper, while engaged in setting traps for muskrat on their father's farm about four and one-half miles from this city, on the bank of the Wisconsin river. Upon investigation it was found that the body had been in the ground for many years.

The finding of the skeleton recalls the disappearance of an old bachelor by the name of Charles Mitch. Mitch was supposed to have considerable money and one day was missing, and although diligent search was made, nothing was ever heard or seen of him again. Later Alex Taylor, who also lived in this vicinity, also disappeared. Some time after the body of a man was found in the Wisconsin river and the evidences were that he was foully murdered. The body was easily identified as that of Alex Taylor. The finding of Taylor's body immediately set to rest a rumor of the search for Mitch's body, but it was never found. The old settlers now believe that after thirty years of obscurity the earth has yielded up her secret as to the whereabouts of Mitch.

VARITY STUDENTS TO PLAY "OTHELLO."

The Edwin Booth Dramatic Club of Madison Will Produce the Play.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 14.—The Edwin Booth Dramatic Club, after careful consideration, has decided to stage Othello in the most elaborate fashion that a play has ever been staged at the university. Prof. Frankenburg has for some time been corresponding with Chicago theatrical people in regard to details and has come to the conclusion that with the excellent material at hand the play can be put on with great success.

The committee consisting of Lawrence J. Lillqvist, Make O'Brien and William Davis, acting with Prof. Frankenburg, have had three Shakespearean plays under consideration. The Merchant of Venice, Hamlet and Othello and last night decided definitely upon Othello. The characters are being cast at the present time. Lillqvist will probably take the part of Othello, William Davis or Mr. O'Brien the part of Iago, John Miller the part of Brabantio, A. Gaudin the part of Gratiano and Tom Eichen the part of Rodolpho. The ladies for the cast will be drawn from the dramatic seminary or the Hot Domino. Miss St. John, Miss La Follette and Miss Cunningham will probably take part.

CLAIM ATTEMPT WAS MADE TO STEAL CHILD.

Manitowoc Man Receives Warning That His Little Girl is to be Kidnaped.

Manitowoc, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Police officials are investigating a reported attempt to kidnap the 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Chase. A few days ago Mr. Chase received an anonymous letter warning him that an attempt would be made to abduct the child and Wednesday a woman, a stranger to the family, appeared at the house and sought to induce the mother to permit her to take the child for a walk. This was refused and the matter reported to the police. Nothing has resulted from the investigation, thus far, and an effort was made to keep the matter a secret, but it leaked out yesterday. Chase recently came here from Appleton and is employed as a conductor on the Manitowoc & Northern Traction Company's lines.

CAPT. EDGAR BEDFORD NAMED AS CHIEF.

Selected to Take Charge of the Sheboygan Fire Department—His Long Service.

Sheboygan, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Capt. Edgar Bedford, who has been connected with the local fire department for seventeen years, was yesterday made chief, to succeed John Sandrock, who has been retired on a pension, after over half a century's service. Bedford has been captain of No. 1 station for over twelve years. There was a long contest before an appointment was made, the board of police and fire commissioners being equally divided as to the merits of Capts. Bedford and Ruehle, the latter being in charge of the south side house.

BURGLARS BOUND AND GAGGED CLERK.

Rob Raymond Blakeslee of Harland and Leave Him Lying on Drug Store Floor.

Harland, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Raymond Blakeslee, clerk in Dr. C. C. Skinner's drug store, was awakened early yesterday morning by the presence of men in the store. Seizing a revolver, he came to the front of the store but before he could fire the revolver was knocked out of his hands and he was bound and gagged. The burglars then took $15.50 from Blakeslee and left the store. The clerk was discovered some hours later.

BAD SNOWSTORM IN NORTHERN WISCONSIN.

Severe Storm Has Been Raging All Day in the Northwestern Part of the State.

Cumberland, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Heavy snowstorms are prevailing throughout Northwestern Wisconsin today, the first of the season.

Oscoda, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—A severe snowstorm has been raging here since morning.

SENT TO AN ASYLUM.

Menasha Woman Thought Band Leader was Christ.

Oshkosh, Wis., Nov. 14.—Judge A. H. Goss issued a commitment for Mrs. Maud Hodge of Menasha, wife of Wayne Hodge, to the Northern Hospital for the Insane. Mrs. Hodge showed unmistakable symptoms of mental alienation at the Appleton Congregational church, when she was attending a band concert. As the orchestra was playing Mrs. Hodge removed her hat and gloves and all her rings and in spite of the efforts of her father and sister the leader of the orchestra as "Jesus Christ."

NEKOOSA.

No death has occurred in this section for some time that has cast such universal gloom over the people of our village as that of Walter Graves, which happened at Green Bay last week. He was a most estimable young man who had made a friend of nearly every one during his stay here and the news of his death was a severe shock to those who had been his associates during life. A number of our citizens went to Green Bay on Monday to attend the funeral. The following memorial was adopted by the camp of the Modern Woodmen in this village, of which the deceased was a member:

We are called, almost without warning, to mourn the death of our beloved neighbor and associate, Walter F. Graves. Stricken down in the prime of manhood and at the height of usefulness the blow comes with a severity that can be realized only when time has elapsed in which to measure its force. Only yesterday he was at his post, zealously discharging the duties imposed upon him until the last moment. Today his place among us is vacant forever; the knowledge that forces itself through every fibre of body and soul in such an hour, and this camp of Modern Woodmen of which he was an honored and loyal member is bereft indeed. In this hour of grief we pause to pay to his memory the tribute due him for his many sterling qualities, the friendship and love that bound us to him and to recognize in some measure the loss we have suffered.

Walter F. Graves was a man who lived up to his principles. His standard was a high one and he maintained it faithfully. He joined Nekoosa Camp No. 2376, Modern Woodmen of America, in the month of August, 1900, and during the two short years of his membership was an active and valuable member, always ready to advance the interests of the fraternity and always ready and anxious to render assistance and help to a brother Woodman.

To his bereaved family we tender our sincere and earnest sympathy in their time of sorrow and the hope that God whom he trusted and served so well will afford them the consolation of His divine peace.

"Oh, brave young heart forever still,
Oh, hands once swift to work his will,
Oh, on your human love has lain
The cross of death a year of pain,
Oh, life's long struggle and its vain,
A love divine has called you home."
"A little while," Oh, hearts that break
In loneliness for his dear sake,
Be comforted. God sends you peace,
While one by one your years increase,
Toward that fair day when shall cease
And life's last love be yours again."

As a token of our esteem and regard, be it

Resolved, That in the death of Walter F. Graves this fraternity has lost a valued member and each individual member a true friend, honest and upright in his dealings with everyone, always kind and considerate, yet firm in his convictions and with courage to stand for all things which he believed right and just, his example may well be emulated by us all.

Be it further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the family and placed upon the records of the society.

The six-months-old boy of C. Marcus died on Tuesday after a short illness.

The typhoid patients are gradually recovering and no new cases have developed of late and as a consequence our citizens are in hopes that the epidemic is over with.

Remember This.

When in need of good reliable cough medicine our readers will do well to remember that Hart's Honey and Horehound not only affords immediate relief but effectually cures. Mrs. Michael Savage of Lincoln, Ill., says of this valuable medicine, "On Saturday night of last week I was awakened and greatly alarmed at finding my daughter, four years of age, suffering from a severe attack of croup. As we always keep a bottle of Hart's Honey and Horehound in the house, I gave her three doses of the medicine and in twenty minutes she was entirely out of danger." Hart's Honey and Horehound is sold by Sam Church druggist.

MARSHFIELD.

Marshfield is undergoing the experience of many other towns throughout the state regarding the swallipox. Health officer White complains that the people of the city do not pay as much attention to the quarantine as they should and as a consequence there continues to be a few cases of swallipox in the city notwithstanding the fact that the authorities make every effort in their power to stamp out the disease. The city council at its last meeting was asked to appoint special officers for purpose of watching houses that are under quarantine.

A petition was presented to the council last meeting asking that a curfew ordinance be passed in this city, and that a bell or whistle be blown every evening at eight o'clock. The matter was referred to the judiciary committee. Several attempts have been made heretofore to have a curfew ordinance passed in this city but the effort always met with defeat.

The wrestling match on Friday evening between Fred Beel of this city and Emil Klank of Omaha, was won by Beel in three straight falls. Klank was the heavier man by about twenty pounds and put up a good game but was unable to down the Marshfield boy. The match was witnessed by a good crowd of enthusiastic spectators.

The plans for sewer system for this city have been completed and placed where they can be inspected by those interested in the matter. The system is necessarily an elaborate one in order to give the city proper service and will cost considerable money to perfect.

Special elections will be held in this city on Wednesday, Nov. 19 for the purpose of electing aldermen in the 4th and 5th wards, these officers having removed to other parts of the city.

Wrinkles are smoothed away by its healing touch. Brain tired and depressed people will find a cure in Rocky Mountain Tea. 35 cents at Johnson & Hill Co.

Startling, but True.

"If every one knew what a grand medicine Dr. King's New Life Pills is," writes D. H. Turner, Dempsytown, Pa., "you'd sell all you have in a day. Two weeks use has made a new man of me." Infalible for constipation, stomach and liver troubles. 25c at John E. Daly's drug store.

Remember Friday is
Bargain Day Always at the Heineman Merc. Co.'s

We offer this week Friday great bargains in Blankets, Quilts, Pillows, Etc.

This is just the right season of the year for these goods and if you are wise and prudent buyers you won't miss this bargain day sale on these goods. We might go on and enumerate and describe each pair of blankets; telling the size, weight, color, etc.; and then you would not know whether they were Real Bargains or not until you had called and examined them with your own eyes.

Therefore we are going to cut out that part this time and simply ask you to call and see the goods and we will then show you the good points about them and also show you how we can save you a nice little sum on each article. If you are the least bit interested in these articles you will exert yourselves to attend this sale.

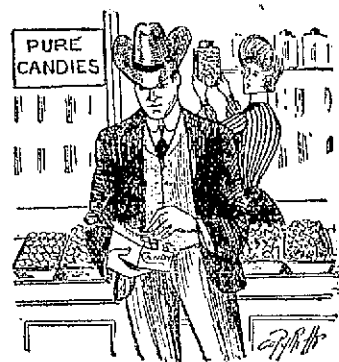

Remember the Date, November 21st, FRIDAY.

DIRECTORS MEET.

Wisconsin Cranberry Association Arranges for Winter Meeting.

A meeting of the officers of the Wisconsin Cranberry Growers Association was held at the office of Judge John A. Gaynor on Sunday for the purpose of making the arrangements for the winter meeting which the association holds every season. The date set for the meeting was Tuesday, January 13th, in the council rooms in the city of Grand Rapids. The program of the meeting will be substantially as follows:

President's address—Chas. Briere. Secretary's report—W. H. Fitch. Science and Art of Cranberry Growing—John A. Gaynor. Past, present and future of the Cranberry—D. R. Burr. Fruit growing organization of California—E. C. Bennett. Best methods of handling water—C. S. Whitteley.

The Question Box. Answers to the following questions are requested: Are smaller packages than barrels desirable? How many grades are deemed advisable? Definition of terms in cranberry growing? Establishment of a cranberry journal? How late in the fall should flooding be done? How early in the spring should water be taken off? What percent of "defective" berries ought to take same out of the class "sound" berries? Individual yield of growers as compared with last year? Comparative crops in the vicinity of shipping station.

In view of the fact that it is proposed to have laws passed concerning the grading and handling of cranberries it is imperative that there should be as full an attendance as possible at this meeting. Those who cannot possibly attend are advised to send their views by communication.

Another matter that will be taken up at this meeting will be the matter of making cranberry exhibits at the St. Louis and Louisiana fairs in 1903 and 1904. There will probably be no better way of letting the general public know what is being done in the way of cranberry culture than by making a desirable exhibit at these institutions, and it would seem no more than just that the state should make a small appropriation for the purpose of furthering the work, as the magnitude of the cranberry business and the rapid increase in its growth are matters that are worth the consideration of all.

Officers Elected.

The stockholders of the Electric and Water company held their annual meeting at the city hall Tuesday evening and all of the old directors were reelected for the ensuing year. They are Herman Wiperman, J. A. Gaynor, Fred Kruger, Geo. M. Hill and John Schnabel.

The report of the secretary was read and accepted. The report shows that during the past year there has been invested in improvements the sum of $17,000, which of course necessitated the borrowing of some money, but in spite of this fact the company is in a very flourishing condition with bright prospect for the future.

Married.

On Wednesday, November 15th, W. H. Gettis presiding, at the office of the judge in this city, Mr. Fristam Warren to Nellie Bauman, both of the town of Rome. As the groom gave his age as 69 years and the bride 38 the judge concluded that they were old enough to know their mind and tied the knot without delay. Mr. Warren is a farmer of Adams county where the newly wedded pair will make their home.

All the scenery is carried by this company and the cast to support Mr. Morris is a very strong one. "The Peddler's Claim" will be at the Grand opera house on Next Tuesday, November 25th.

High School Notes.

Last Tuesday morning Mr. Youker very ably addressed the school on the subject of the "Bradstreet Commercial Agency." He spoke briefly of the early history of the agency, and of the great dislike for it at first, but also how it grew until now it is a very important factor of the commercial world. Mr. Youker stated that nearly every failure of recent occurrence had been predicted by the agency, and although so many are failing every day it is very surprising that more do not fail. He said that the amount of credit given to a man was based largely on his reputation for honesty and ability, or in other words upon his character.

The Physics class had a test last Tuesday morning on the subject of Hydraulics and the Mechanics of fluids.

Miss Alice Sanders made a short visit to her home at Saratoga last Friday and returned Sunday.

Mr. Dopp was absent from school duties several days last week because of sickness.

The Seniors had a test in American history last Wednesday morning.

Monday the school did work in mental arithmetic for morning exercises.

The examination for the semi term will begin on Wednesday afternoon.

The class of 1903 held a special class meeting Monday night.

After the Hunters.

After careful consideration and much discussion of the proper means to secure exemption from the inroads of hunting and camping parties and protection for their stock and families, a number of representative land owners in and around Auburndale and Arpin have formed what will be known as the "Mill Creek Creamery Club" for the purpose of excluding all hunters from their lands unless they wish to issue permits. The plan aims more especially to keep out the hunting parties of non-residents who flock to this section during the deer season and overrun the farms as well as the wild lands, and residents of this district and friends of the club members will be given written permission to hunt on the forbidden ground.

The organization now numbers among its charter members nearly forty heavy land owners in the vicinity of Arpin and Auburndale covering one of the best tracts of hunting ground remaining in the country. The desire to keep out hunters arise from the experience of the past two seasons when the farmers in that particular region have not been safe from stray bullets in their own homes and their families have been terrorized and their stock in danger. The owners of the soil believe that they have a right to suppress the hunting within reasonable bounds and are following the scheme used in many of the older settled portions of the country.

As a warning to hunters each member of the club has posted in conspicuous places about his farm signs reading "Hunters take notice, no trespassing allowed on these premises." The signs being one foot square. Written permits will be supplied to neighbors and friends by members of the club and persons so provided will be allowed to hunt at will. An effort is being made to extend the movement and during the deer season the membership will be increased, while there is talk of forming similar clubs in other districts where game still abounds and the farmers are subjected to the danger of loss of life or property.

The officers of the Mill Creek Club are Lorenz Lochner, president; Jay Holland, secretary; John Darmide, treasurer; Charles Zank and William Prosel, constables during the hunting season.—Marshfield Times.

County Board Still at It.

The county board is still in session at the court house but the members hope to finish up their work this week. There has been a large number of accounts to audit but this would not have delayed matters a great deal as the board can dispose of a large amount of this work in a day. The figures of the supervisor of assessments were submitted to the board and the valuation throughout the county was placed at about 20 per cent lower than this valuation. This was about the average, although there were departures from this in both directions.

The committee appointed for the purpose of selecting a site for the new poor farm has been discharged from duty, which would indicate that this matter has been dropped by the board for the present at least.

In Mortal Combat.

Merrill Advocate: While out hunting deer one day last week Knut Severson, of 1404 East Main street, ran onto five bucks engaged in mortal combat. Mr. Severson was attracted to the scene by a great commotion, and walked up within easy range of the enraged denizens of the forest. After looking at the battle a short time he took aim and felled one to ground. The buck had no sooner fallen than another buck picked the dead on his horns and threw him high in the air. Mr. Severson again fired and brought down another one. The rest then discovered the hunter and took to the woods. Mr. Severson says that but for the fact that he was so interested in the furious fight he might have killed the whole bunch.

HAVE SECURED A SITE.

May Have a New Manufactory Es. tablished Here Soon.

During the past week George Wettlaufer and A. F. Perry of Stratford, Ontario, have been in this city looking over the place with a view to establishing a factory here. Mr. Wettlaufer is sole owner of a patent arrangement for attaching to a wagon box, by means of which the vehicle may be changed from an ordinary farm wagon with a single box to a double box, a hay rack, stock rack, etc., and from the circular and illustrations it would appear to be a very practical idea.

During their stay here the two gentlemen have been busy looking for a site for a factory and they have secured the promise of the lease of a piece of property from the Wisconsin Central railroad situated across the track from their depot which would be very good for the purpose needed. It had been the intention of Messrs. Perry and Wettlaufer to locate their plant at LaCrosse, but Mr. Perry came here to visit with Joseph Coriveau and becoming favorably impressed with the town he wrote to his friend of the advantages here and induced him to visit the city. Upon arriving here he found the city to be all that was represented and immediately went about securing a site.

While the gentlemen are contemplating the organization of a stock company nothing will be done along this line until the arrival of samples of the iron on which Mr. Wettlaufer holds the patents. These are the expected the latter part of the week, they having been delayed in transit, when they will be placed on exhibition on the east side for the inspection of those who are interested in the matter.

DENIES SENSATIONAL STORY

"Corney" Wheeler Says Old Soldier Was Not Ill Treated at the Home.

In a special telegram from Grand Rapids, Wis., to a St. Paul paper, a sensational statement by an old soldier giving the name of Daniel T. Horton, a member of Co. A., First Pennsylvania Regiment, relative to alleged ill-treatment at the Milwaukee branch of the National Soldiers' Home, is published. The old soldier is quoted as saying that he was "treated like a dog," and that he was locked up and abused in a terrible manner. He declares that he finally succeeded in escaping from the home and making his way to Grand Rapids, Wis.

The telegram was shown to Gov. Cornelius Wheeler of the home and in reply to the statement made, Gov. Wheeler said that Horton was a man more than 80 years of age and was suffering from trouble of a mental nature, not being capable of judging what was being done for him. "During his stay here he was, of course, treated just as well as any other member of the home," said Gov. Wheeler. "He was in no way abused, as that sort of treatment is not permitted here to any inmate. But in his mental condition he became possessed of the idea that everything was wrong, that he was greatly abused, and that he was a prisoner, all of which is a great mistake."

Former United States Senator John L. Mitchell, a member of the board of managers of the National Home, said that he had found on investigation that Horton was well treated in every respect and that his charges are unfounded.—Porage Democrat.

Will Dedicate Church.—The new Lutheran church at Vesper will be dedicated on Sunday next. The ceremonies commence at 9:30 a. m. and the afternoon services at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Baese of the town of Sigel will preach in the forenoon and Rev. Selle of Nekoosa in the afternoon. Ceremonies will be conducted by Rev. J. T. L. Bittner, who will also preach in the English language at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. In order to accommodate those who wish to attend the ceremonies an excursion will be run over the Wisconsin Central from Nekoosa to Vesper, stopping at Port Edwards, South Grand Rapids and Grand Rapids. The train will leave Nekoosa at 8:30 a. m., Port Edwards at 8:40, South Grand Rapids at 8:45, and Grand Rapids at 8:50. Returning the train will leave Vesper at 4:30 p. m., the cost for the round trip being 40 cents.

Died.—Mr. and Mrs. Matt Vandenbrook mourn the death of their 4 months old boy, Chester, which sad event occurred on Saturday, the little one being a sufferer from stomach trouble. The funeral occurred on Monday, the remains being interred in the Catholic cemetery, Rev. F. VanRoosmalen officiating. The sorrowing parents have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

Ready for Business.—The new wagon factory of the Mackinnon Manufacturing company is all ready for business, the motors having been placed in position and the line shafts being up. The machines for the factory have not arrived as yet, however, and it may be some time before they do get here, owing to the fact that they have to be manufactured after the order is received.

Got a Black Bear.—Stephen Snyder brought in a black bear on Saturday that he had killed in the vicinity of Rice Lake. The animal was a fine specimen and weighed 290 pounds after being dressed. The hide of the animal was an especially nice one, being soft and silky and very thick with fur, and would make an especially fine rug. The carcass was sold to N. Reiland the butcher.

Changing Location.—Dr. Chas. Pomainville is having offices fixed up in the Pomainville block over Otto's pharmacy which he will occupy as dental parlors in the near future. In view of the fact that there are three dentists on the east side and none on the west it would seem as if the change were a good one.

Thanksgiving Dance.—There will be a dance at the opera hall on the evening of Thanksgiving, to which the general public is cordially invited. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Grand Rapids brass band under the leadership of Emil Lambert. A good time is promised to all who attend.

Play Took Well.—The Metropolitan Stock company met with good success on the occasion of their visit to Pittsville, there being a fair audience present that fully appreciated the merits of the play. The members of the troupe report a very pleasant trip.

Some High Water.—The Wisconsin river has been hovering about the seven foot mark for several days past, and as this is about six feet higher than it has been for some months it seems higher than it really is.

Dance Thanksgiving.—The Catholic order of Foresters are figuring on a ball on the evening of Thanksgiving at their hall on the east side. Good music has been engaged and a good time is anticipated.

Marriage Licenses.

The following marriage licenses were issued by the county clerk during the past week:

Henry F. Baab and Mary Schmaai, both of Marshfield.

Theodore Ommott and Pearl Anderson, both of the town of Cary.

A. C. Meske and Anna Dalbert, both of Dexterville.

Henry Card and Minnie Sullivan, both of Babcock.

Joseph E. Lenzenmaier and Mary Weimpueter, both of Milladore.

A Remarkable Machine.

—Our enterprising harnessmaker, Mr. J. H. Landry has recently purchased a Landis hard wax machine.

After ten years of practical experimenting by the inventor, this machine was first placed on the market about seven years ago and therefore is no experiment. It has been improved from year to year since that time until it has reached such a state of perfection that it does better work than it is possible to do by hand.

As compared with hand work the machine uses a smaller awl, larger and stronger thread, twice as much hard wax which is melted and pumped into the stitches making them water proof, more stitches to the inch and every stitch pulled in tighter than is possible by hand.

A man sewing by hand pulls the thread through hole after hole in the leather thus weakening the thread with each stitch taken before it finds its place in the completed work, whereas the machine uses a new piece of thread for each and every stitch.

Buyers of harness on first thought consider all machine made harness as being factory harness, but this is not right, as there is a vast difference between factory made harness and harness made on a Landis machine in Mr. Landry's shop, because he uses better stock and will exercise greater care in selecting the best part of the leather for parts of the harness subjected to the greatest strain; he will also use better thread and give closer attention than the factory to the details which go to make a first class harness.

A representative of the Landis Machine Co., says he has a standing offer to forfeit $1000 if harness made on the Landis machine will not out wear hand work when the same stock is used. The general public is respectfully invited to call at Mr. Landry's shop near the bridge and see this machine work.

WHISKY TABLETS
CAN'T GO BY MAIL.

Postmaster General Payne Refers Question to Kentucky Expert Who Says Substitute is a Fraud.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—Postmaster General Payne has issued an order denying the use of the mails to the Whisky Tablet Company, Kansas City, Mo. The company advertised that the tablets, when dissolved in water, made a substitute for whisky that was as good as the "straight" article. The department received a number of complaints regarding the company and an inspector was assigned to the case, who brought a box of tablets and made up a tumbler of the liquor, according to directions. He did not think much of the result, but, inasmuch as he does not confess to being a judge of alcoholic liquor—at least not in his official reports to the department—he formed an impromptu expert committee composed of a Kentucky colonel, a drummer and a bartender to pass upon the quality of the substitute.

The members of the committee solemnly tasted the contents of the tumbler, and after they had recovered sufficiently to sample a substitute for the substitute, their conclusion was voiced by the Kentucky colonel in the statement that "this stuff, suh, is vile, perfect suh, it bears not the slightest resemblance to the genuine article, suh, and the man who sells it for a substitute should be prosecuted—rigorously prosecuted."

The other members of the committee concurred in the remarks of the colonel, and, after their conclusion that the liquor was not alcoholic had been substantiated by expert testimony of a slightly different kind, the department held that the sale of the tablets as a whisky substitute constitutes a fraud.

DEAD BODY FOUND ON RAILROAD TRACK.

Police of Wheaton, Ill., Have a Murder Mystery—No Means of Identification.

Wheaton, Ill., Nov. 15.—The body of a man cut in twain was the ghastly find which James S. Robertson came upon in the yards of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad at West Chicago yesterday. Three deep wounds were found in his neck, and near by lay a knife covered with blood. The head and shoulders were inside the track and the abdomen and legs outside. Nothing has been found by which the victim could be identified, and the officers believe they have a murder mystery to solve.

Though possessing good clothes and a refined appearance, nothing of value was found about the man. His money and watch had been taken, as his clothes gave evidence.

The only clues which may lead to the solving of the mystery come from the knife, which has the name of a Plainfield firm stamped on the blade, and on a page of a memorandum book found in the man's coat was the name of Barber. This was nearly a year ago, and the body was found yesterday morning at Wheaton. At 4:30 yesterday morning, Robertson, who is the yardmaster, was approached by a stranger, who said: "You will find the body of a man on the Elgin branch just east of the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern track."

Robertson immediately started out to find it. The stranger followed in an excited manner and then turned and disappeared in the darkness. He cannot be found, and because of the night no one can give a description of him.

UNABLE TO HANDLE FREIGHT.
Miles of Yards and Sidings Blocked with Loaded Cars.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 15.—The freight congestion problem has grown so serious that the Pennsylvania railroad is thinking of refusing to ship to Pittsburg any more freight east of here for a week. Several hundred miles of yards and sidings are blocked with loaded freight cars.

In the local yards the sidings and tracks are blocked with solid trains of freight, which are shifted and reshuffled to enable trains to get through. Cars known to have arrived in the yards have been lost, it being almost impossible to find them among the miles of cars that are standing there.

An officer of the Pennsylvania railroad said in the Harris stock yards there are cars that arrived here a week ago bound for New York, and it has been impossible to get them out of Pittsburg, and this means a great loss to the railroad, which has to feed and water the cattle.

DOWIE MADE DEFENDANT.
Trial Begun at Sycamore to Recover Estate of Mrs. Mary Tindall.

Sycamore, Ill., Nov. 15.—Trial of the suit brought by the estate of Mrs. Mary Tindall, aged 83 years, against John Alexander Dowie, has commenced. The plaintiff is Theodora D. Dowie, daughter of the estate. D. Dowie, a woman, is followed by Dowie and the plaintiff claims they so worked upon their mother's feeble condition that they influenced her in last August to deed her homestead to Dowie, taking as security only writings indicating she was in partnership with Dowie. She was then declared a dependent and was asked to withdraw from the Methodist Church and give all over to Dowie. The latter is putting up a hard fight through his attorney. The day has been spent in getting a jury.

SHOT THREE DEER IN TWO DAYS.
Iron Mountain Woman Exhausted her License Tags.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Nov. 15.—Miss Laura Erickson of this city, who is numbered among the very few of the iron county women who have taken out hunting licenses this season, has the honor of being the first person to return from the woods with her full complement of deer. She killed three of the animals, all that the law permits. Miss Erickson's trip was taken with her brother, who used up two of his deer tags. They hunted in the vicinity of Floodwood and were gone but two days.

Out of the Game.
Samson, awaking to find himself short of his locks, went bitterly.

"Why so sad?" asked Delilah. "Indeed, I always said you would look better with your hair short."

"Oh, woman, woman!" moaned Samson. "Don't you know that this simply shatters all my hopes of ever being full back?"

Then at last came upon the woman the full realization of the evil she had wrought.—Baltimore American.

JOHN MITCHELL SPEAKS.

Arguments Begun Before the Arbitration Commission.

DEFENSE OF THE UNION

Inadequate Pay of Miners Considering Hardships and Peril of Their Employment.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 14.—The commission appointed by President Roosevelt to arbitrate the differences between the anthracite miners and their employers today began their hearing of the miners' side of the case. After the workmen have concluded the operators will make their defense. It is expected that more than two weeks will be taken up in hearing both sides.

The hearings are being held in the beautiful chamber of the state supreme court which has been placed at the service of the commission.

Almost every seat was occupied by general superintendents, superintendents of mining companies and other officials and representatives of the mine workers.

President Mitchell sat at the head of the table provided for the representatives of the miners.

Shortly after 10 o'clock the members of the commission filed in. Mr. Mosely, one of the recorders, announced the commission's approach and as he did so every one in the court room stood up. Judge Gray brought his gavel down and the proceedings were opened.

Status of Nonunion Men.

Judge Gray announced that a sufficient time had been given for the parties to the controversy to prepare for the hearing, and that the commission would hear the representatives of the miners first. John T. Lennahan of Wilkesbarre, on behalf of the nonunion men, inquired of the commission what course the arbitrators would take with respect to them. Judge Gray answered that that was a question which would have to be considered.

Mr. Wolverton asked the other side to give the operators at least one day's notice, indicating the collection of which employees will be called as witnesses, so that the mine owners can be prepared to examine them. Mr. Darrow for the miners agreed to the suggestion.

Mr. Darrow then called for the regular procedure and Mr. Wolverton asked that the miners present their case. The request was immediately carried out and President Mitchell arose and addressed the commission.

Peace and Stability Desired.

Mr. Mitchell prefaced his statement with the hope that the commission would "use its best judgment in establishing a relationship between the operators and the miners that will insure peace and stability in the industry for an indefinite period."

After reciting the demands for increased pay for the miner, a shorter work day for the laborer, the weighing of the coal in the mine, and the refusal of all of which led to the strike, Mr. Mitchell spoke as follows on the question of higher wages:

Of the 147,000 men and boys employed in and around the mines, strippings, washings and breakers in the anthracite fields, 64,072 or 43 per cent., are employed on contract or piece work; the remainder, 82,928 or 57 per cent., are employed by the hour. At the present time, the piece men, 64,072, are paid an average of $7.50 a week, and the hourly men, 82,928, are paid an average of $7.50 a week. The work of a miner and a miner's laborer is extremely hazardous in fact it is more dangerous than employment in any other industry in the world. This number of persons killed and injured is greater than in any other industry. Each day the anthracite coal mines are in operation 2,610 persons lose their lives and three times as many are maimed, and yet these men receive wages actually less than are received by men performing precisely similar work in other fields under more favorable and less hazardous conditions. The number of years a man can retain his health and strength in this occupation is limited. If he escapes death or injury by falls of rock or coal, he cannot escape attacks of miner's asthma. There is scarcely a miner who has not contracted this malady.

Cannot Secure Life Insurance.

The miners are compelled to work in powder, smoke, in foul air, and in the presence of water and their work is difficult and exhausting. Reputable insurance companies will not issue policies to this class of workers. The risks are so great that the premiums would be prohibitive. The wages of these men are so low. The entire 20 per cent. which they demand as an increase in wages would not suffice to carry an insurance of $10,000.

It seems but fair and just that wages paid these classes of workmen should be as high as those paid to men in other industries. The miners should receive as high wages as are paid to men in the bituminous coal fields, in the silver and gold mines of the West, and in the copper mines of the West. The miners are free from liability to disease, less exposure to cold and less skill, and is better paid than labor in the anthracite coal fields.

In supporting the demand for the reduction of the hours of the day laborers, Mr. Mitchell showed that it amounted practically to a demand for 20 per cent. increase of compensation for $2,000 a man, or 37 per cent. of all mine employees.

Continuing he said:

The eight-hour day is the standard working day in the mining industry. Eight hours of the day are worked in the coal mines of Great Britain, in all the silver, gold and copper mines and in the bituminous coal mines in the states of Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and the Indian Territory.

The report of the United States Geological Survey shows that more coal has been produced annually since the inauguration of the eight-hour day than in any preceding year. Each miner produced more coal in the eight-hour day than he did in the ten-hour day. The fact that there is no reason why the same result would be obtained in the anthracite fields is a constantly increasing amount of coal for which they receive no additional compensation.

Miners Robbed by Weighing System.

Defending the third demand that coal shall be weighed and paid for by weight and that 2240 pounds shall constitute a ton, Mr. Mitchell said:

The present method of measuring the coal produced by the miners in the Lackawanna, Pennsylvania, and other regions has been a source of more discontent than any other of the many injustices imposed upon the miners, and there can be no controversy as to the fact that the present system has been adopted. Paying for coal by the car or by a ton weighing from 2740 to 3490 pounds is a flagrant injustice. The cars have been loaded with more coal than required and there has been no corresponding increase in the amount paid per car or per ton. The miners have been forced to produce a constantly increasing amount of coal for which they receive no additional compensation.

The miner should be paid for every pound of coal that he produces, and if he produces 2240 pounds he should be paid for it.

If 2240 pounds constitute a ton when coal is sold to the consumer and when railroads companies are paid for transporting coal to market, what justice can there be in denying the miner the right to be paid for his labor upon the same basis?

The anthracite companies, not satisfied with an extra legal ton of from 2740 to 3490 pounds have a system of docking through which they appropriate additional dollars of the miner's earnings. A miner is docked at the way from 100 to 1000 pounds upon a car, as a penalty for loading impurities for which he has already been penalized, and the extent of the docking is in pounds in excess measure of weight; in other words he is punished twice for the same offense.

A system somewhat similar, but less unjust, obtained in a portion of the bituminous coal field many years ago, but the miners are now paid by weight upon the basis of the ton and are not only protected but are encouraged by the operators to employ check weighmen to see that the product of their labor is properly weighed and a correct record made.

For a Trade Agreement.

Mr. Mitchell then took up the fourth demand of the miners for the trade agreement, with the necessary machinery for the adjustment of the local grievances. He outlined the history and policy of the United Mine Workers of America and explained that by its constitution the anthracite and bituminous mine workers had made rule for the local government of local affairs. He said:

The only manner in which the national organization is permitted to interfere is that before a strike is inaugurated by the district or the national union must be obtained; but the president of the national organization has no authority to investigate a strike, and the miners are not permitted to afford a greater measure of protection against strikes than they would have under a separate and independent organization.

As the record of the United Mine Workers of America has contracts with the operators of the bituminous coal fields, and the anthracite coal fields, Mr. Mitchell said:

At the present time the United Mine Workers of America has contracts with the operators of the bituminous coal fields, and the anthracite coal fields, Mr. Mitchell said:

Where the United Mine Workers of America is recognized and contracted with, it assumes the responsibility of disciplining its members. The trade agreement has proved effective in restraining workmen from striking and has been successful. There have been no strikes of any magnitude in any of the coal-mining states in which trade agreements exist. We seek to have the anthracite coal miners to have the same advantages in the anthracite fields.

Would Avoid Strikes.

It is said that the competition between anthracite and bituminous coal is a reason why the anthracite operators oppose a recognition of the miners' organization. That this objection is neither valid nor insistent is clearly demonstrated by the fact that many of the railroads operated by the anthracite coal fields have entered into trade agreements with the miners' organizations, a majority of whose members are employed upon other and competing roads.

We demand recognition because we know that permanent peace and friendly relations can be best maintained through a trade agreement with the organization which our people have elected to represent. Fully 90 per cent. of the employees of the anthracite coal mines are members of it from choice. We desire to retain their membership in it. It is the United Mine Workers of America that conferred with the President of the United States in relation to the coal strike of 1902.

Defense of Miners' Union.

Failure to recognize the organization was the cause of the coal strike of 1902, which operators and mine workers jointly complained. There have been many local strikes during the past year, the fault of which rests on the coal companies. The miners, failing to secure redress for their wrongs (the companies having refused to treat with their representatives), had no choice but to submit to injustice or to inaugurate a strike.

Recognition of the union does not mean dictation or interference by men not employed by the company. It simply means that officers selected by the mine workers shall exercise supervision over the organization or shall counsel with the mine workers as to how the affairs shall be conducted. The miners have as much right to select spokesmen to act for them to present their grievances, to manage their affairs, as has the stockholder of any one of the anthracite coal companies to elect their officers to perform like functions.

Mr. Mitchell concluded with a plea for the children. He said that little boys should not be forced into the mines as breakers so early in life; that little girls should not be compelled to work in the mines and factories at an age when they should be at school.

How Strikes are Ordered.

Responding to questions, Mr. Mitchell said the president or the executive board had never ordered a strike except upon the affirmative vote of the miners themselves. In answer to further questioning, President Mitchell said that last year 513 men were killed in the mines and twelve injured. The number of deaths in the bituminous fields in proportion to the number of men employed was not so high as in the anthracite regions.

Mr. Mitchell then spoke of the rates of wages paid in the bituminous fields, and those paid in the anthracite region, said they were from 40 to 50 per cent. higher in the bituminous country in some classes of work and from 20 to 30 per cent. in others.

Distribution of Relief Fund.

Mr. Darrow's next question brought out the first public statement made since the late strike was inaugurated regarding the amount of aid given the strikers. Mr. Mitchell said $1,000,000 had been distributed among the workers and that nonunion men on strike had shared equally with the unionists, although they had paid no dues.

Asked about the ability of the miners' organization to assist in the settlement of disputes, Mr. Mitchell answered:

"If I could say that the experience of an organization demonstrates that discipline can be maintained where trade agreements exist. As a matter of fact, in those states where we have trade agreements, if any of our local unions were to attempt to inaugurate a strike or refuse to go back to work when we instructed them to do so, we would put them out of the union. Our agreements take precedence over our own law. The agreements must be kept inviolate."

Must Keep Agreements.

When the direct examination of Mr. Mitchell by Mr. Darrow was concluded, Mr. Wilcox for the operators cross-examined Mr. Mitchell at length regarding the general policy of the organization. Mr. Wilcox read from the constitution and asked if there was any provision in it which authorized the expulsion of men who violated agreements. Mr. Mitchell said that he would have such authority because that had been the policy of the organization.

Finally, said Mr. Darrow, in the process of enforcing the agreement is the agreement itself. The constitution does not specifically contain any provision for turning a man out of the organization, but it does confer power on its officers to interpret it and to exercise supervision under it.

The interpretation of the law, said Mr. Wilcox, is now making the law?"

Government Buys Green Bay Property.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Assistant Secretary Taylor today decided to purchase additional ground for the public building at Green Bay, Wis. E. C. Elmer's proposal to sell lot 50 for $30,000 has been accepted.

SHOT AT THE KING.

Belgian Monarch the Target for a Supposed Murderous Assault.

Brussels, Nov. 15.—Three shots were fired at the King of the Belgians this morning as he was proceeding to the cathedral to attend a service in memory of the late Queen Marie Henriette. No one was hurt.

King Leopold is more or less unpopular among his subjects because of his neglect of his duties and his cruel treatment of the Princess Stephanie when she came to Brussels to attend the Queen's funeral.

The man who fired the shots is an Italian. He stood in front of the Bank of Brussels on the Rue Royale. The other chambers in his revolver proved to be blank so it is presumed that those fired were equally harmless. The man was immediately arrested and the police had some difficulty in rescuing him from the hands of the crowd. He gave the name of Rubino.

The royal cortege consisted of several carriages, beside that of the King and Queen, the Count and Countess of Flanders, Prince and Princess Albert of Flanders, the Princess Clementine and Rubino, a bookkeeper. He was born at Rubino, near Naples, in 1879, and has lately lived in Brussels. Rubino confessed that he intended to shoot King Leopold and said he held anarchist beliefs.

A fuller investigation satisfied the police that Rubino really fired a ball cartridge, the bullet of which smashed the window of Comte d'Ontremont's carriage and grazed the grand marshal's face.

When rescued from the mob Rubino was placed in a cab and infuriated crowds of people immediately surrounded it and attacked the vehicle with knives and sticks. The police had great difficulty in forcing a way to the police station through the crowd, which shouted alternately, "Kill him," and "Long live the King." The cab was badly lashed with knives.

Assailant an Anarchist.

It is reported that Rubino had been heard to express anarchist opinions and it was also said that he came to Brussels from London expressly to kill King Leopold and went to the cathedral today for this purpose, but refrained from shooting the King for fear of killing soldiers who stood between him and his majesty.

Rubino is also reported to have said he was employed in the Italian secret service in London and that he came to Brussels a fortnight ago with the intention of assassinating King Leopold.

The news of the outrage spread rapidly throughout the city and the greatest excitement prevailed.

CARRIE NATION AT HARVARD.

Given Tumultuous Reception by Students in Memorial Hall.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 15.—Carrie Nation invaded Harvard and Memorial Hall and amid pandemonium reigned for a time. The reformer made her appearance in the visitors' gallery after having snatched cigarettes from the mouths of students on her way in. From the gallery she addressed the students.

"My dear boys," she said, lifting her Bible aloft, "the saloon is your bitterest enemy. Why do you know that 300,000 young men like you are in their graves today because of the saloon?"

LEAPS INTO NIAGARA.

Woman Attempts Suicide but is Rescued on the Brink of the Great Cataract.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Mrs. Helen Costello of Buffalo was rescued from the brink of the American falls by employees of the state reservation. Word was received at the reservation office that a woman had attempted to commit suicide, and was floating down a rapid towards the falls. Supr. Perry secured a quantity of rope and hurried to the bridge which connects Green island with Goat island.

The woman was seen clinging to a submerged log at a point a few feet below the bridge. A rope was fitted about the body of John Marshall a reservation employee, and he was lowered into the rushing waters. He succeeded in reaching the woman's side and placed a rope about her waist. The two were then slowly hauled to the stone abutment of the bridge. A ladder was lowered and the woman was landed safely.

EIGHT PERSONS DIE.

Result of Boiler Explosion at Lebanon, Pa.—Bad Railroad Accident.

Lebanon, Pa., Nov. 14.—Eight persons are now dead as the result of the boiler explosion in a furnace of the American Iron and Steel Manufacturing Company last yesterday. Four additional deaths occurred during last night. The majority of the injured are not yet out of danger.

Washington, Ind., Nov. 14.—The Royal Blue, Baltimore & Ohio, Southwestern, St. Louis to New York, was wrecked twenty miles east of here this morning. Several injured, one probably fatally.

The flyer was running sixty miles an hour and struck a freight train head on. Both engines were smashed.

ODELL MAY FACE A CONTEST.

Democrats Discover Ballots Marked with Cross Are Illegally Rejected.

New York, Nov. 14.—Charles W. Dayton, representing John Cunnenn, Democratic candidate for attorney general in the recent state election, says that 4000 Democratic votes had been illegally cast out in this county as defective, and that as a result Odell's election might be contested.

The alleged defective ballots were opened and examined during the afternoon under a writ of mandamus issued by Supreme Court Justice Scott on the application of Mr. Dayton. At least 90 per cent. of the ballots so examined, Mr. Dayton said, were obviously meant to be straight Democratic tickets.

SON ACCUSED OF MURDER.

Nels Erickson Under Arrest at Iron Mountain—Father's Disappearance.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Following the discovery, under the body of John Erickson, who disappeared last May, Nels Erickson, a son, has been placed under arrest in this city, accused of the murder of his parent. There were two bullet holes in the dead man's skull. He had been in the neighborhood of St. Ignace, Mich., when he last seen on the lines of the N. & W. Scott, for ten days, returning only last night, protests his innocence.

FORTUNE FOR JESSE R. GRANT.

Realizing Large Income from Investment in Nome Placers.

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 15.—Jesse R. Grant, son of President Grant, has made it comfortable fortune by the successful opening of mining properties at Nome, in which he became interested three years ago. His home is in San Diego, whither he returned from his annual visit to Nome. With other Californians he purchased interests in Nome placers when they were first discovered, and is now reaping a large income from them. Mr. Grant is also interested in Mexican mines.

SHAW AND YOUNG SPEAK AT BANQUET.

Former Discusses Gold Standard and Latter Defends Army in the Philippines.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw and Maj.-Gen. S. B. M. Young were the principal speakers at the banquet given in this city in honor of the representatives of the foreign commercial bodies who came to the United States to participate in the dedication of the New York chamber of commerce.

Maj.-Gen. Young's address was an eloquent denunciation of the United States army in the Philippines. The general took up the charges of cruelty made by the "anti-imperialists" in this country, and for the first time since he returned from the archipelago, he spoke in defense of the officers and men who have faced Filipino treachery and barbarity in the jungles of Luzon, Samar, Leyte and Mindanao.

BANK DID NOT OPEN.

Central National of Boston is Placed in Hands of Temporary Receiver.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 14.—The Central National Bank of this city did not open for business today, the comptroller of the currency having ordered the bank examiner to close its doors and take charge of its business.

The closing of the bank is said to be due to excess loans and a lack of quick assets. An appeal for aid was made to the Boston Clearing House Association, but the committee did not deem it advisable to assist the bank.

A statement concerning the closing of the Central National bank of Boston was issued at the comptroller of the currency's office today. It says that the bank was examined September 11 last and while the examiner's report showed losses equal to the surplus fund, no evidence of insolvency was shown. Certain conditions were then imposed upon the bank with a view to providing for losses and securing the bank against further loss on its loans. Later it was determined to place the association in voluntary liquidation by having another bank in Boston take over its assets and assume its deposit liabilities, and it was thought that arrangements to this end were being successfully carried out until the acting comptroller received a dispatch from the Federal Reserve Board that efforts to liquidate had failed. The failure, the statement says, is due to the losses sustained.

FETTERED BY FATE

BY ALEXANDER ROBERTSON

"Joliet's Fate," "Little Sweetheart," "Lottie, the Sewing Girl," "Goldmaker of Lisbon," "Wedded to Win," "Diana Thorpe," "Nora's Legacy," Etc., Etc.

CHAPTER XXIV.—(Continued.)

In the days gone by Roger had not known that he possessed this mesmerizing power, and it had been long since he and this scapegrace cousin had met face to face, so that he had been unaware of the power he would have over him.

His excitement had increased his usual strength of mesmerism, while the consciousness on the part of the Captain as to his own weakness and inability to combat against Roger, even though he held the winning power in the shape of the revolver, had gone far toward vanquishing him.

They stood thus like two statues for a full minute, the one proud, commanding, and noble, the other cringing like a whipped cur, his hand trembling still as he clutched the weapon that might have been used with such deadly effect upon his enemy but for the cowardice that seized upon his soul.

At last the spell was broken. Raising his hand, Roger pointed to the forest on the left.

"Go your way, foul wretch, and have a care how you cross my path again, for if we meet once more and I find that you are still persecuting those whom I would protect, then all the powers of the master you serve so well cannot save you from my vengeance. I will say no more, but go."

His manner emphasized his words, and there was something about him that seemed to impress the doughty Captain with the idea that it would be better to show discretion than valor.

"Never fear," he hissed, "we shall meet again, cousin mine, when the advantage will not be upon your side. You say that my hand trembles, and you say well, for I have not yet recovered from a wound received in a duel. I go not because you desire it, but simply that I may do something rash if I remain here. Until we meet again, adieu."

Turning, he strode, among the trees, without once looking back, and Roger drew in a long breath as though free from the presence of a serpent that poisoned the atmosphere.

When the Captain had reached a certain point, where he was still hidden from the sight of Roger, should the other still be bending his gaze in that direction, he came to a halt, and was in a few seconds looking once more upon the man he hated so bitterly.

His face was a perfect picture of ungovernable fury, fire flashing from his eyes, and his white teeth gleaming cruelly.

"Curses upon your head, Roger Darrel, for this last insult. All my life you have stood ahead of me, the favorite of fortune, while I had to be content with groveling in the shadow cast by your high mightiness. The time has come when I can end no longer. Something is going to break. It may be you, it may be me; but this world is not big enough for us both. You have found me out, but it will be a bad thing for you. Things are getting mixed here, and I must force a way through."

To tell the honest truth, things were getting a trifle mixed, so far as his personal safety was concerned. He had upon his track, first of all, the gypsy girl, the very thought of whom sent a cold chill through his veins, and whom he half expected to see behind every tree and bush that he passed.

Besides, the ghost of the man whom he thought he had murdered, and whose body he had hidden away in the chimney flue of the old mill, seemed to rise up and haunt him, pointing a bony finger at him and laughing in sepulchral mockery. Although not given to superstition, the doughty Captain had often shivered at the bare contemplation of such a meeting.

Besides this, he secretly feared lest the woman he had so fearfully wronged, and who was even then secured in the private insane asylum of Doctor Grim, might again escape, as she had done once before, and finish the work commenced upon that dusky field in the graveyard.

A man with such matters as these weighing upon his mind, and the furious enmity of a man like Roger Darrel added to them all, must in truth be possessed of unusual grit to be able to set his teeth hard together and defy outrageous fortune, yet this was just what the Captain did.

He saw that all was lost unless he made a bold stroke, and to this end he set himself to work, resolved to win or lose all upon the casting of a die.

CHAPTER XXV.

When Carol came face to face with her father she passed, thunderstruck.

No wonder her eyes expressed such great surprise, for he was holding her mother in his arms—the woman whom he had wronged so terribly in the past, and between whom and himself there had seemed to be a chasm that was without a bridge.

There could be no mistaking the looks of both, for happiness was written upon their countenances, and beamed from their eyes.

"Carol," said the white-haired gentleman, his voice vibrating like the string of a harp, and as he spoke he held out his arms, as if longing to enfold her in their shelter; "my child, can you ever forgive me for the wrong I have done you? I advance no plea; I was crazy to do as I did. Can you ever look upon me as your loving father again? By the memory of the love you bore me, by the love of this dear woman, your mother, who has forgiven all the cruel wrongs of the past, I implore you, my child, to have mercy upon me, to come to my arms and forget the dread past in contemplating the near future."

For the first time in her life Carol saw her father's pride humbled, and he stood there, with outstretched arms, his face showing the pleading of his heart.

She was overcome by the spectacle, and with a little cry she rushed into his arms. Fiercely, as might a lover, the old gentleman strained her to his heart. She had been lost to him, and was now found again. He had suffered much during his eventful life, but it seemed to him now that he was fast nearing the harbor of peace.

Reconciled to these two—wife and child—what had he to fear in the world? For the time being he forgot that Captain

Grant held a secret over his head—the motive of much of his action in regard to forcing Carol into the union she abhorred—and, when he did let his mind rest upon the subject, with that evasiveness common to human nature, he kept putting the dread responsibility away from him, hoping that in the meantime something would occur to relieve him of this danger altogether.

Carol was happy for the time being in the consciousness of the fact that those she loved so well had, by the interposition of Providence, as it were, become reconciled, but she could not long forget her own troubles, and her heart seemed to sink like lead as she suddenly realized how far she had parted Roger and her forever.

She felt like a wren, such a ghost of her former bright looks, creep over her face when her father, in something of his old cheery way, told her not to fret, that he would fix all matters with Roger.

Ah! there was a time when this could have been done, and all would have been as merry as a marriage bell; but now she had placed a barrier between them as high as the Rocky Mountains, as vast as mighty Niagara.

What would she not have given to have undone the events of the past few hours? If the heart tears could have blotted out the record, surely she wept enough to have done it.

He had been so close to her, his brave arms outstretched, and she had repulsed him, had driven him from her with charges that it made her cheeks burn to even remember. While she drew breath she would never forget how he looked, standing before her with his white face, from which her insulting words had driven every vestige of color.

She felt like one who had given the death blow to the man who loved her best on earth, as if she had wounded fatally some dumb animal that still crept to her feet in its dying agony.

Remorse preyed upon her until she could have cried aloud in her agony, and yet she suffered in stony silence. Would he be merciful when he confronted her with the evidence of his innocence? How his cutting, scathing words rank in her ears!

"Some day shortly I will seek you to show you the proofs of my innocence; seek you to prove all that I ever claimed to be; seek you to show that it was the taint on my family name that I feared, not because I had ever done aught that could bring disgrace upon myself or the one I loved; and, having done this, I will throw your love from me like a tattered glove, for it was false—false!"

Terrible words! To her they were the sentence of death declared by the judge upon the condemned prisoner, and she shuddered when recalling them.

Sadly she reflected upon it, and then, shaking her head, realized that such a step once taken could never be recalled. All now rested with Roger. Would he forgive? Ah! had it been herself would she not forget all when he asked it? Then the burning blush crept into her face again as she remembered that she had shown anything but a forgiving nature when she accused her lover of such fearful things.

She was paying the penalty of her doubting, and yet hers was a trusting nature, only the evidence had been too powerful, even Roger himself contributing his share to the quota.

How was she to know what he meant when he admitted that he had done wrong in wooing her, that there was a mysterious something that cast a shadow over his prospects? Surely he could not blame her so much when he learned all. She would put pride aside, and plead with him. If he was the man whom she had loved, he would listen and forgive.

CHAPTER XXVI.

The acceptance of the Captain's challenge had been written by Jack, and Nora Warner had been utterly ignorant of the name of the man whom the one she hated had been about to fight.

She had only known that he was a wealthy young Virginian whose estate adjoined that of Lawrence Richmond, so that when she warned Carol against Roger Darrel she had not the slightest idea of the great harm she was doing one who had ever been exceedingly kind to her, as the unfortunate victim of his cousin.

When she learned of the mischief that had been done, she would not rest until the wrong she had unconsciously done had been righted, for she felt very different toward the Roger Darrel we know than he who had been the bane and curse of her life.

Roger, on his part, when he rushed away from Carol, had no idea of the vastness of the temptation and overpowering evidence that had been placed in her way, nor could he realize how circumstances, even his own words, had united in the effort to deceive the trusting young girl. While not comprehending the nature of her questions, he had as much as admitted that it was all true, and looking at it in the light she did, what a terrible thing this must have been to hear a man condemn himself of such terrible crimes.

The memory of that night, when she came to him in the avenue of elms and put the question to him, was as fresh with her as though it had happened but yesterday, and he began to realize the horror that must have entered into her soul, when, immediately after acknowledging that it was all true in relation to Nora Warner—and Carol understood him at the time to be acknowledging the fact that the woman in the mad house was his own wife, not his cousin's, as he supposed she knew—he had pleaded with her to be the same to him as before.

His self-pride had been terribly wounded by the fact of Carol's believing he could be guilty of such fearful acts. In his anger he gave her no credit for her fearful struggles against such a belief, and the overwhelming evidence upon the matter, but seemed to be seized with the insane idea, quite beyond reason, that, if she loved him as well as she professed to, she should have believed in him, even when his own words condemned him.

Roger had very exalted ideas on the subject of human love, but he was yet to learn the lesson that we are all weak, even the strongest among us, and that love can yield to facts as well as any other emotion.

This was how he deceived himself, however, and in so doing kept up his anger. Had he allowed himself to sit down and calmly think over the matter, his good sense would have soon won the victory, together with his love for the young girl; but he kept the fire burning by repeating to himself the words he had used in that last interview with Carol, when she had horrified him by disclosing the fact that she had—and even then—believed him to be the evil man who had ruined the life of the gypsy girl, Barbara Merriels, and shut his wife up in the mad house when she was as sane as he himself, simply because he wished to be rid of her.

"Yes, I will bring proofs to her, proofs that will convince her of my innocence beyond all doubt; and having done that I will throw her love from me like a tattered glove, for it is false. She never really loved me, else she could not believe such a terrible thing of me."

Thus he allowed his thoughts to run on in the same channel. He would not let his mind dwell upon the other side of the case, and in this way he was unjust to Carol and to himself. It was not like Roger Darrel to thus be ungenerous; but there are times in a man's life when for awhile his whole nature seems perverted, though generally it swings into place again ere long.

He was paying the penalty of his anger toward Carol, and soon he would enter into the second stage, when he would find himself so miserable, cut off forever from her love, that death itself would seem a relief.

When this time came, Roger would be rapidly nearing a state when he would be in a fit mood not only to forgive Carol but to sue for pardon himself.

He now understood the game his cousin was playing, though of course there were parts of it entirely veiled from his eyes; for instance, he did not know that Nora Warner had escaped from the mad house and that it had been her revengeful hand that had given his cousin the wound that prevented the duel between the two Roger Darrels. Then, again, he was ignorant of the fact that Nora was not insane.

Before his cousin had been confined in the mad house he had been enabled to do her several favors, without his identity being known to her, as he thought at the time; but when he heard that she had gone crazy he did not doubt the truth of the report, although he felt sure it had all come through the man who bore his name, and such was his shame for the dishonor put upon the Darrel family by this foul act, that more than ever he felt disgraced and wished to be alone.

This was his state of feeling when he came home from abroad and met Carol Richmond for the first time.

His fine inner sense told him that he ought not to woo her for his wife, but he became angered at the idea of his whole life being ruined because of this reproachable cousin, and he had put aside all foolish scruples.

When Carol denounced him on that night in the avenue of trees, he naturally thought she was speaking of the disgrace that hung over him because of his cousin's doings when she declared that "Nora Warner stood between them."

His cousin was so excellently disguised that he did not recognize him any more than on the former occasion, when traveling in Europe, and he met him as the Russian count, the man with the black glove.

What schemes the scoundrel had in view it would be hard indeed to tell, but most certainly his designs upon his cousin at that time had been frustrated through some cause.

On the next night after the one on which he had held that interview with Carol, when fate had parted them never more to meet, as it seemed, some powerful motive drew Roger's footsteps in the direction of the old mill. He knew not why he went, yet some magnet drew him on.

(To be continued.)

THOMPSON'S BED.

Very Good Reason Why Its Occupant Did Not Sleep Well.

When the Tobique River lumbermen took possession last fall of the camps they had occupied the winter before, a man named Thompson got one of the lower berths; but he did not sleep well, says a friend of his who writes for the Maine Woods.

Ordinarily, the lower berth is as comfortable as the upper one. The bottom of it, eighteen inches from the ground, is made of small poles, which are covered evenly and quite thickly with fir boughs, and all one needs over the boughs is a pair of blankets. In Thompson's bed, however, there seemed to be a good many bubbles.

Just outside the camp was a large birch tree. It groaned when the wind blew. So did Thompson. He said the root of that tree ran under his bed, and when the wind blew it would rise up and roll him over against his berth-mate. Then the berth-mate would punch him in the ribs and demand more room, and there was unhappiness all round.

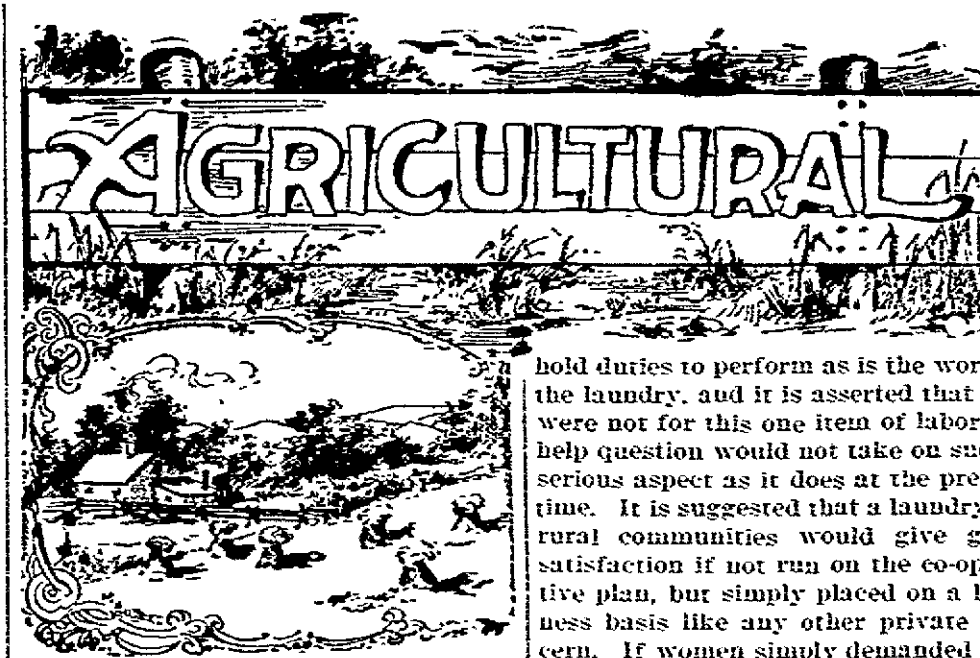

Finally Thompson said that if the boss did not cut down that birch he would leave. So the tree was felled. That night, however, he found himself rolled against the other man as usual.

Thompson said this had gone far enough. He was going to see what was under that particular part of the berth. The next morning, which was Sunday, after the crew got up, he dug the boughs back and pulled up the poles.

The mystery was soon explained. First there appeared a huge black head and a pair of paws, then a body—and then a stampede took place among the men. A black bear weighing about four hundred pounds crawled out over the "deacon's seat" and in less than a minute was monarch of all he surveyed. He did not feel friendly to the people who had unroofed his den and waked him up.

They lassoed the bear and tried to keep him, but he made things so lively in the cook's dingle that he had to be shot. But after that Thompson slept better.

The last pleasure in life is the sense of discharging our duty.—Hazlett.

Handling Corn Fodder.

Where shocks are made of unbound fodder it will be necessary to employ the aid of a horse for building them and they should be well tied with binder twine. Almost any device will answer for a horse around which to shock the corn. Herewith is shown a device sent by a contributor for trying shocks that is very necessary. After the shock is made as large as desired, the shaft of this device is thrust through the shock a little above the half way distance from the bottom to the top, the end of the rope is brought around the shock and the end passed over the smooth end of the shaft. By giving the handle a few turns the compass of the shock will be so drawn that it can be easily tied. Shocks tied in this manner seldom get twisted or out of condition.

For hauling in fodder we have two designs. One of these is an ordinary sled-like device that is easily constructed and will be found very handy for hauling fodder. It will be found especially handy in loading fodder. Some use this sled for hauling and the shocks are not torn apart in hauling, but are simply tipped over on the sled and hauled away in this manner. The other device consists in a peculiarly constructed rack to be placed on a low-wheeled wagon. By the aid of a simple derrick-like contrivance on the rear end of the wagon the shocks are easily lifted on the wagon and placed in a position on the load. We know of several farmers who have used this device, and they pronounce it good. Many ways can be provided for making racks that will be convenient for hauling fodder, and these are only given as starters along this line.—Iowa Homestead.

Winter Spraying of Fruit Trees. The spraying of fruit trees during the winter should not be neglected. Before the leaves start the trunk and every branch of the tree should be well sprayed with a solution of one pound of copper sulphate in twenty-five gallons of water to check scab, codling moth, bird moth, tent caterpillar, canker worm, plum curculio and San Jose scale on apple trees, to be followed up after the blossoms fall by the regular Bordeaux mixture of four pounds each of sulphate of copper and lime to fifty gallons of water. Some prefer to use six pounds sulphate of copper instead of four pounds, but we are not sure that this is any better than the other, while for peach trees that have put out their leaves the use of three pounds of sulphate of copper to six or nine pounds of lime is thought strong enough for fifty gallons of water. But we are now speaking of a winter spray before the leaves come out. The mixture of fifty pounds each of lime, salt and flowers of sulphur is used on the Pacific coast for the San Jose scale, but in our Eastern climate it does not seem to be as effectual, as the frequent rains wash it off. A mixture of pure lime made as a thin whitewash and used on peach trees two or three times in the winter has been recommended as a spray that will keep the leaves and buds from starting early enough to be killed by the spring frosts.—American Cultivator.

Keeping Late Cabbage.

Late cabbage laid in shallow trenches roots up will keep well if not placed too close together in the trench. Dig a trench about eight or ten inches deep and two and a half to three feet wide, putting some cross-pieces of wood in the bottom of the trench for some odd and end boards to rest upon, making a rough kind of platform, leaving a space of two or three inches beneath. A little straw is spread over the boards and the cabbages are packed in head down in two layers, the upper layer being placed between the angles formed by the cabbages of the lower one. A coping is placed over to keep them dry and attention paid that they do not get frozen.—American Gardening.

The Co-Operative Laundry.

The co-operative laundry should be just as practical as the co-operative creamery. There is no labor that is so dreaded by those who have the household duties to perform as is the work of the laundry, and it is asserted that if it were not for this one item of labor the help question would not take on such a serious aspect as it does at the present time. It is suggested that a laundry for rural communities would give great satisfaction if not run on the co-operative plan, but simply placed on a business basis like any other private concern. If women simply demanded that laundry should be done away from home there is no question but what their demand would be satisfied.—Iowa Homestead.

Artificial Ice Ponds.

There are few better sources for getting good ice than from a properly constructed artificial pond, because they can be placed on a stream of pure running water, which can be let off during the summer months, and allowed to fill up before freezing weather. The bottom can be cleaned before the water is let in, and if there is no impurity above, the ice will be much purer than from the ordinary pond. A pond containing one hundred square rods should cut about twenty thousand square feet, or five hundred tons, when the ice will average nine inches thick, and this would be enough for several families or dairies. For a single family with small dairy, even six square rods would fill an icehouse ten feet square, twelve feet deep, or about thirty tons, more than many use for a dairy. If the ice was thicker or was cut more than once in a year, the amount would be largely increased. Both these might happen in ordinary winters in this climate. The ideal pond should be about 3½ feet deep, and with a gravelly or sandy bottom. Water in the shallow pond freezes more quickly than in a larger pond or a running stream, and where it is filled quickly the ice is clearer. A grass bottom is allowable, if it be cleaned by mowing and raking before the water is let in. The shallow depth prevents danger from drowning unless one goes in head foremost. For the smaller houses one needs no expensive outfit of ice tools. A straight-edged board to mark off the squares, a cross-cut saw, and an ice chisel, a few pikes, a runway, with blocks and ropes to draw the ice up the run, are all that are absolutely necessary. Two men to cut, two to run it into the house and one to pack it inside will make a good gang for a small pond.—New England Farmer.

Cheese Press.

Here is a sketch of a cheese press that we have found to be very useful; it can be made at a trifling cost. The uprights are 2x4 inch scantling, 4 or 5 feet long, with pieces of the same fastened to the bottom for bases; 30 inches from the floor stout cleats are nailed firmly to the uprights, upon which rests a 2-inch plank, which serves as a table; upon this plank is a cheese hoop with a cheese inside to be pressed; above this is a stout strip (2x4) with ends resting in mortises cut in the uprights; this strip should be 3 or 6 feet in length; under it, in the center, is a block which rests upon a round follower the exact size of the cheese to be pressed. The power is furnished by the eccentrics, or arms, which are merely levers with unequal circular ends; these work on a bolt which pierces the circle near the top; to the ends of the arms fasten strings, which are tied to the side of the table to maintain the pressure. When the cheese is placed in the hoop, the follower and block adjusted, by pulling down on the eccentrics a pressure of any required degree is applied upon the cheese. Both the board and strip being elastic, the pressure is maintained as long as required.—Jacob Harper, in the Epitome.

The Infant Bee.

When one thinks that any bee that walks out of its cradle, pale, perhaps but perfect, knows at once all that is to be known of the life and duties of a bee, complicated as they are, and comprising the knowledge of an architect, a wax-modeler, a nurse, a lady's maid, a housekeeper, a tourist agency and a field marshal, and then compares that vast knowledge with the human baby who is looked upon as a genius if it curls "Goo-goo," and tries to gouge its mother's eyes out with its fingers, one realizes that the boasted superiority of the human brain depends largely upon vanity.—Rural World.

The Milkhouse.

In planning a house for handling the milk the main points are ventilation, sunshine, drainage and to have it handy to an abundant supply of cold water. The location should be where the air is pure, as milk absorbs odors and is easily tainted and spoiled for butter-making or any family purpose. The building should have at least one window on the south side, so as to allow the sun to shine in when desired, yet so arranged as to exclude the direct sunshine when necessary.

The best mulch for a strawberry bed is fine horse manure. Early in the spring it should be raked off the rows and worked in close to the plants using salt hay or any clean material in its place on the rows as a mulch after the plants are well grown, so as to protect the fruit from dirt and also to shade the soil.

Chicago Matters.

—The two-story frame building on West Fifty-third street burned to the ground and two families narrowly escaped death in the flames. The loss on the building and contents, estimated at $20,000, fully covered by insurance.

—Rev. James Hill, D. D., senior member of the Indiana conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, is dead at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. H. K. Hill, in Englewood, Md., on May 10, 1902.

—When Desk Sergeant James Allen of the Stanton avenue police station visited the cell room in the basement of the station he found Israel Goldberg dead. An examination of the body developed the fact that the man came to his death from natural causes.

Sherman W. Smith, one of the best known men in the wholesale grocery business, died at his home, after a long illness. He was connected with the firm of J. A. Tolman & Co. for twenty-two years, having advanced from an office boy to the position of credit man. He was prominent in club and local bowling circles.

Working for Yourself.

Many a man when come to middle life and not prosperous as he had hoped, lays all the blame on luck. He complains that he has had no chance in life. Everything has always been against him. Other successful men have had opportunities that never came to him.

Did these men observe their past life closely, it would often be found that they had missed the opportunities which they had. A boy is sent on an errand. He may loiter on the way. He may neglect to be polite when delivering his errand. Or he may not perform his errand in the manner he was told to. He thus loses an opportunity to make a good impression on the one to whom he has an errand and on the one who employed him for that purpose. He has missed a chance to form good business habits of exactness, promptness and courtesy.

Some young men think that if they can steal a half hour of their employer's time, or shirk a duty, they have made something for themselves. They are missing opportunities for success. These are not habits for which a man is promoted. They cannot follow such manner of working unknown to their employers. A wrong spirit in their work is sure to betray itself. The employer knows who is earnest and zealous in business. Every employee is working for himself all the time; is he doing the best he can for himself?

Every young man has an opportunity to save a little salary. If his salary is small, he should spend little. He can dress plainly, and spend little in amusements and self-indulgence. The habit of self-denial gives a strength to character which is an important factor in gaining success.

All these things may seem small to one, but they have a great significance. Life is made up of small things. Little things of daily and hourly occurrence are the things which form our character. Great things do not frequently happen to one. Be careful about the small things and you will be ready to take advantage of the great, if such come. If the great never does come yet are you farther on the road to reach your aim, than if careless in small matters.

Editor Told The Truth

An exchange tells a sad story of a Missouri editor who announced that for one issue of his weekly paper he would tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. Here are a few items from that issue:

"John Bonin, the laziest merchant in town, made a trip to Belvidere yesterday. John Doyle, our grocery man, is doing poor business. His store is dirty, dusty and noisily odoriferous. How can he expect to do much? Rev. Styx preached Sunday night on charity. The sermon was punk. If the reverend gentlemen would live up a little closer to what he preaches he'd have bigger congregations. Dave Souky died last Saturday at his home in this place. The doctor gave it out as heart failure. The fact is he was drunk, and whisky is what killed him. His home was a rented shack in Roudy street. Married—Miss Sylvia Rhodes and James Canahan, last Saturday evening at the Baptist parsonage. The bride is a very ordinary town girl who doesn't know any more than a rabbit about cooking and who never helped her mother three days in her life. She is not a beauty by any means and has a gait like a fat duck. The groom is well known here as an up to date loafer. He has been living off the old folks all his life and don't amount to much. They will have a hard life while they live together and the News has no congratulations to offer, for we don't believe any good can come from such a union."

The issue in which the Missouri editor told the truth was the last ever printed. Now, in springtime, when the diamonds sparkle in the tender grass and sweet-throated birds make melody all the day, subscribers to his paper while it was published drive out into the country a short way to catch a glimpse of a piece of black skin which hangs suspended from a barbed wire fence. It is all that remains of the once manly form of the Missouri editor who "told the truth for one week."

Premiums Didn't Come.

The "magazine premium" graft, of which numerous Pipestone people have heard before, has just been successfully worked at Red Wing, Minn., and the Daily Republican says: "Several Red Wing housewives are anxiously awaiting the arrival of sets of dishes, dining room tables and gold watches they ordered through an alleged magazine publishing company some months ago. Some citizens put up as much as $5 in order to get the magazine and the valuable prizes. Several months ago two well dressed young men spent considerable time here soliciting subscriptions for a magazine, the price of which was 10 cents a copy. That is the last heard of these solicitors in this city. They have worked other towns, however, and now complaints are coming in from all quarters. The police here have received numerous 'kicks' and are hoping to locate the men. The magazine is supposed to be published in New York city but the name of it is not given. With every subscription a certificate of guarantee for the delivery of the premiums was given.—Pipestone Co. Star."

It is said that every bride has many friends, but in a few years they dwindle down to one. That's Rocky Mountain Tea. Makes and keeps her well, 25 cents at Johnson & Hill Company.

Wants It Heinep.

Captain F. Heinep, in a letter to The Milwaukee Sentinel, in reply to Senator McGilvary's plan for a republican caucus to agree on some form of a primary election, brings out a suggestion which it would be well for the legislature to formulate into a law.

"This law should make registration of every citizen of the state of legal age and residence compulsory. If he fails to vote at a caucus or primary election fine him $1. If he fails to vote on election day, without good cause shown for such neglect, fine him $2. Charge these fines up with his taxes if he be a property holder, and if he be not a property holder, let him either pay up his fine, or in default strike his name from the poll list until he reinstates himself as a voter by payment of such fine."

In every county in Wisconsin there are hundreds of persons who neglect their duties as American citizens and remain at home on election day. They think more of making 15 or 20 cents than they do of exercising their right of suffrage. Many of them left European homes to better their condition and to get away from working over half of their time for the purpose of supporting large armies and the nobility. When given an opportunity in this country to have a voice in public matters they ignore the chance. No better way, it seems, could be adopted to educate this class of citizens than to fine them for neglect of duty. Under the present system a voter who takes an interest in public matters and votes is taxed for high-way purposes. Reverse it, and make the man who fails to vote pay the tax.

Purifying Water by Electricity.

A large syndicate has been formed and is now preparing to exploit the process of purifying water by the means of the electric current. The patent is that of C. E. Holland, of New York, and the company is the Electric Purification Company. An experimental plant has been in operation for some time at Charters Creek, near Pittsburg, where the practicability of the system has been fully demonstrated, and a proposition will be made to the city of Pittsburg to purify a portion of the city's supply at first, and then all of it, and after this an effort will be made to introduce the system in other large cities. The inventor says that the cost of an electrical plant for this purpose, capable of supplying 75,000,000 gallons per day would not cost more than $100,000, and after the installation of the plant the cost of purifying the water, as near as can be figured on the basis of the small plant now in operation, would be about 28 cents for a million gallons.—Scientific American.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

The notorious ship-subsidy bill is again heard of on all sides. It is said that the advisability of its passage will be considered by the republicans in a caucus to be held early in the session. It is recognized that the measure is most unpopular with the majority of the voters, but its advocates urge that if it is passed immediately after Congress convenes, the people will have forgotten all about it before another election takes place and the pressure to pass the iniquitous measure is most urgent.

A Violent Attack of Croup Cured.

"Last winter an infant child of bad croup in a violent form," says Elder John W. Rogers, a Christian Evangelist, of Riley, Mo. "I gave her a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and in a short time all danger was passed and the child recovered." This remedy not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the first symptoms appear, will prevent the attack. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as an adult. For sale by Johnson & Hill Co. and Wood County Drug Co.

From an Auctioneer.

Col. C. H. McDonald of Greenville, Ills. in a letter May 1st, 1901, says: "I am an auctioneer and being often exposed to the weather, am seriously troubled by my throat becoming irritated and hoarseness following. When troubled in this way, I always use Hart's Honey and Horehound. It is the only remedy that has ever done me any good and it positively cures. Sold by Sam Church druggist."

A play of more than passing interest will be presented on next Tuesday, Nov. 25th at the Grand opera house. It is indeed a treat to think that at least we will be given an opportunity of seeing a new character on the stage. While the character of Moses Levi is that of a Hebrew, still Mr. Morris plays the part in a most artistic manner, and in no way burlesques the race. "The Peddler's Claim" affords great chances for scenic effects and Manager Marks has been very liberal in giving his star a complete production.

Man and His Horse.

Every man should, for himself, his family and his horse, keep on hand some antiseptic healing dressing that will quickly relieve pain; subdue local inflammation; heal scratches, chafes, chaps, cuts and open wounds; cure bruises, burns, scalds, frostbite, galls and sores; relieve strains, sprains, swellings, muscle soreness, stiff or lame back or neck, rheumatism, neuralgia, the little hurts of childhood, and the accidents and ails of every day life.

Such a remedy is Greene's Infalible Liniment, an honest medicine made to sell on its real merits and give such satisfaction as to make friends and keep them. It is equally good for man or beast. Once introduced into the home, the stable, the gymnasium or the training quarters, it becomes a standby to be used with confidence. A bottle of it is its own best advertisement and all the proof of its utility and merit required. All who use it speak well of it.

"Greene's Infalible Liniment" has done me a world of good. I shall always have a supply on hand for use." W. A. Lange, ex-felder C. B. B. Club.

"I have found from experience that Greene's Liniment is one of the best." F. S. Gordon.

"I consider Greene's Liniment valuable for muscle soreness, sprains, bruises, wounds, galls and scratches. It is economical because only a little is required. My experience justifies me in giving it strong endorsement." Albert H. Merrill.

Mr. Wm. R. Wyle, Supt. Caton Stock Farm, Will County, Ill., writes:—"I have used nearly every liniment on the market but find yours in a class by itself. It does all you claim for it."

Mr. Judd E. Blisbey, Chicago, says:—"I have kept your liniment in my house; it has in all instances proven satisfactory to my family and myself."

"I have used Greene's Liniment on my horses and find it excellent." E. A. Lord, Chicago, Ill.

"Has given far better results than any liniment we ever used." W. H. Flegg, Palatine, Ill.

"I have used Greene's Liniment and like it. It will remove soreness and help lame horses." Vance Nuckols, Greenville, Ohio.

There is no better article for general use than Greene's Liniment." George E. Mason, Chicago, Ill.

"I have used Greene's Infalible Liniment on sore tendons, wind puffs and scratches with the very best results. I consider it one of the best liniments made and recommend it to all horsemen." J. H. Miller, LaCrosse, Wis.

Druggists keep it or will get it for you if you ask them. Accept no substitute. There is no liniment like it or just as good." The makers, J. W. Greene & Co., 17 Van Buren St., Chicago, Ill., to prove its worth, will send a large free sample in return for this advertisement and 10c to cover cost of mailing. The regular price is 25c, 50c, and $1.00 a bottle.

A gang of men have been at work during the past week when the weather would permit under the supervision of Engineer Philico engaged in putting down wells on the property south of the pumping station. Mr. Philico states that the evidences point toward an abundant supply in the near future, which is welcome news to all.

The rainy weather of the latter part of last week disgusted many of the hunters who had come up into northern Wisconsin and many of them were seen on their way home on Thursday and Friday without anything to show for their trip. While this may have proven very disappointing to the hunters it will no doubt have a tendency to make the deer more plentiful next season.

James Chamberlain was at City Point the forepart of the week hunting deer when he received a message stating that his boy was quite sick. Not being able to get a train that night he chartered a handcar and with the aid of the section men made the trip from City Point to Grand Rapids in about an hour. This is pretty good time for a handcar, but Jim is ready to vouch for the truth of the statement.

Word received from Green Bay on Friday told of the death of Walter Graves who has been employed at Nekoosa for some time past as assistant bookkeeper. Cause of death was typhoid fever, and the young man had been sick for some time. Mr. Graves had many friends at Nekoosa and also in this city who were greatly grieved to hear of his demise. Mr. Graves relatives live at Green Bay and the funeral was held there.

—Some years ago while at Martinsburg, W. Va., I was taken with cholera morbus, which was followed by diarrhoea. The doctor's medicine did me no good. I was advised to get a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I did, and it cured me sound and well.—G. A. Morris, Embreyville, Pa. Sold by Johnson & Hill Co. and Wood County Drug Co.

Will and Dennis Conway came down from the neighborhood of Harshaw on Monday evening, having been hunting deer. They reported that their crowd had succeeded in capturing five deer and that they were going to stay for some time yet. Will expects to return to the woods on Thursday but Dennis had apparently had all of this kind of hunting that he cared for. Will reports that there are a large number of wolves in that vicinity and that the campers had killed several of them.

In some parts of Wisconsin and other states the farmers are organizing clubs to better their conditions, and it will be interesting to watch the results. Each club is to be composed of twelve families in the neighborhood. They intend to hold meetings twice a month, each family entertaining the club twice a year, all the meetings to be held at the homes of the members. In the forenoon of the day of meeting the men examine the farm of the one at whose house they meet, discuss, approve or criticize his methods. In the afternoon the ladies discuss their work and at night the young folks have their exercises of a musical and literary nature. The plan is certainly a good one if all will do their work with proper spirit.

Among the callers at the Tribune office on Tuesday was Peter Brown of Saohomish, who has been in the city the past ten days attending to some business matters. Mr. Brown was one of the early settlers in Wood county having first visited this section in 1866, and the stories he can tell of the condition of things in those days are very interesting to one who is comparatively new to the country. In the sixties the west side was almost a trackless wilderness, and where the business portion now stands there was little more than swamp that no man would have cared to accept and pay taxes on. Mr. Brown remained here until four years ago, since which time he has been a resident of Washington.

He has engaged in stock raising there and has met with good success and considers that he has a good future before him. Mr. Brown was quite a sufferer from rheumatism before he left Wood county but since his sojourn in Washington he has not been troubled any, and one would not think to look at him that he had reached the age of sixty-two years.

Jumped on a Ten Penny Nail.

The little daughter of Mr. J. N. Powell jumped on an inverted rake made of ten penny nails, and thrust one nail entirely through her foot and the second one half way through. Chamberlain's Pain Balm was promptly applied and five minutes later the pain had disappeared and no more suffering was experienced. In three days the child was wearing her shoe as usual and with absolutely no discomfort. Mr. Powell is a well known merchant of Forkland, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and heals such injuries without maturation and in one-third the time required by the usual treatment. For sale by Johnson & Hill and Wood County Drug Co.

Millionaire Found Trotters Better Than Medicine.

George Ketcham, the owner of the famous horse, Crescens, was once thought to be the incurable victim of a chronic disease. A great many doctors had a whack at him and finally gave him up. Some sensible physician finally advised him to quit taking medicine and spend as much time as possible in the open air. He took this advice and left off pills and took up trotting horses. The result is that he is today a well man and a millionaire, and altogether one of the busiest men in the world.

The moral of such incidents seems to be that when one is a little sick he had better cut out the doctors and trust to nature.—Medical Talk.

The Test of Time.

Mrs. Clara J. Sherbourne, Professional Nurse of 257 Cumberland Street, Portland, Maine, says:

"I heartily wish those who suffer from some disturbed action of the kidneys would try Doan's Kidney Pills. They would, like me, be more than surprised. My back annoyed me for years. Physicians who diagnosed my case said it arose from my kidneys. When the grip was epidemic, I was worn out with constant nursing, and when I contracted it myself it left me in a very serious condition. I could not straighten nor do the most trivial act without being in torture. The kidneys were too active or the secretions were too copious, and I knew what was wrong, but how to right it was a mystery. It seems odd for a professional nurse, who has had a great deal of experience with medicines, to read advertisements about Doan's Kidney Pills in the newspapers, and it may appear more singular for me to go to H. H. Hay & Son's drug store for a box. But I did, however, and had anybody told me before that it was possible to get relief as quickly as I did I would have been loth to believe it. You can send any one who wishes more minute particulars about my case to me, and I will be only too glad to tell them, personally. As long as I live I will be a firm advocate of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Cure Confirmed Five Years Later.

"Lapse of time has strengthened my good opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, first expressed in the spring of 1896. I said then that had anybody told me that it was possible to get relief as quickly as I did I would have been loth to believe it. Years have passed and my continued freedom from kidney complaint has strengthened my opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills and given me a much higher appreciation of their merits."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Sherbourne will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists. Price 50 cents per box.

Discovery of Coal.

It is just a century ago that Daniel Fell made the first successful test of hard coal in Luzerne county, Pa., for heating purposes. It is said that the Indians knew of the "black stones" and made pipe bowls of them. Moravian missionaries carried across the strange mineral in their long journeys through the woods. Even after the coal had begun to be mined it was difficult to sell any. The people did not understand how to use it and asserted that it would not burn. Signed certificates that "stone coal will burn" had to be sold intending purchasers. Even as late as 1821 the Lehigh and Navigation Company sent but 265 tons to Philadelphia. Hard coal was first successfully used at the wire mills of White & Hazard, Falls of Schuylkill, through canal in December, 1814. The coal cost $28 a ton. But the men could not ignite it. In exasperation they pitched a quantity of coal into a furnace, shut the doors and went about some other work. Some hours later the furnace doors were found to be red hot and the interior a mass of fire. William Henry, a manufacturer of muskets near Nazareth, had secured some of the coal in 1798 for his forges. His blacksmith told him the neighbors called him a fool for trying to burn the "black stones." In 1808, however, he built a mill and successfully used hard coal in it.

Working People Interested.

Waukegan, Wis., Nov. 17.—The working men and women of this district are greatly interested in the case of Mary Kowsky, who, in an interview, says:

"I have almost all my life been a sufferer from Backache and two years ago I caught cold on my kidneys, and the agonies that followed were almost unbearable."

"I consulted different doctors, but the relief they gave me was only temporary. The terrible pains always returned and my suffering tempted me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. They did me good almost from the start till now, after taking three boxes I am almost completely cured."

"I want all hard working people to know this, for with the help of Dodd's Kidney Pills I don't mean to suffer any more Backache."

A Shortage in Locomotives.

The two most completely oversold products of the United States are those of the steel mills and the locomotive plants. The railroad managers are in desperate straits for locomotives, though quantities of raw material and finished merchandise await shipment at many industrial centers. Embargoed lines are troubled rather by shortage of engines than of cars. Most of them have enough cars for their present large tonnage, but are short of engines to haul the cars when loaded. The westbound merchandise traffic is heavy, and will be throughout the fall and winter. The roads being unable to bring enough coke to Western furnaces to permit them to keep working at full capacity, a number of furnaces have blown out the past two weeks.—Philadelphia Record.

Longest Words on Record.

One of the longest words on record occurs in a United States patent for a certain chemical compound. The patent reads thus: "It is an amidobenzoylamine produced by transforming the nitrotriamidodiphenylmethan of amidodiphenylmethan into pentamidodiphenylmethan."

"I owe my whole life to Burdock Blood Bitters. Scrofulous sores covered my body. I seemed beyond cure. B. B. B. has made me a perfectly well woman." Mrs. Chas. Hutton, Berville, Mich.

SPINNING WHEEL.

SHE WAS ABROAD.

"You were abroad," said the visitor. Said the maiden sweet: "Sit down. Yes, I was abroad, and what is more, I brought home a Paris gown."

"You were abroad. Come, tell me, dear. What saw you in London town?" Said the maiden sweet: "Not much, I fear. It's lovely—that Paris gown."

"You were abroad. Did you view Pompeii. And walk in her wonderful streets? Did you in the light of a modern day shed tears at the grave of Keats?"

"You were abroad. I pray you, tell. Did you wander in ancient Rome. And did you stand, transfixed by a spell, under St. Peter's dome?"

"You were abroad. Did you worship where Great Dante carved his name? Oh, answer quick. Did your sad heart share The sorrows of endless fame?"

"You were abroad." And the maiden sweet replied in a study brown: "Yes, I was abroad. It's quite complete And lovely, that Paris gown!"

CONSIDERATION POINT.

An old boatman at a fashionable resort on the Maine coast was engaged last summer by a party of ladies to row them to a local cave known as the "Smugglers' Retreat."

After pulling away in silence for twenty minutes or so the old man suddenly ceased rowing at a spot not fifty yards from the cave.

"Now, ladies," he remarked, calmly, "we've reached 'Consideration Point'."

"Consideration Point?" echoed the spokeswoman of the party. "What a peculiar name. Why 'Consideration Point'?"

"Well, it's just this way, ma'am. There—pointing to the shore—"is the cave, here's the boat. Between the cave and the boat there's a lot of nasty sunken rocks, an' this is Consideration Point, because parties generally stop here to consider whether they'll go the long and safe way round for a quarter each or trust to luck an' them there rocks for 15 cents."

The ladies didn't know that "them there rocks" were purely imaginary, and 25 cents was the fare agreed upon.—New York News.

"Hello, Pat," said a gentleman in the white coat grounds as he met an Irishman bearing away an armful of bits of old wood. "Gathering fuel for the winter?"

"No, sir," answered Pat with an air of importance. "Shure, I am arther gettin' it to sell to them curious collectors."—Judge.

THE WRONG NAME.

In some country districts of Ireland it is not unusual to see the owners' names simply chalked on carts and other vehicles, in order to comply with legal regulations. Unfortunately, this custom lends itself to the playing of pranks on the part of mischievous schoolboys, who sometimes rub off the lettering and thereby get the cart owner into trouble with the police. A case of this kind having occurred, a constabulary sergeant accosted a countryman whose name had been thus wiped out unknown to him.

"Is this cart yours, my good man?" "Av course it is," was the reply; "do you see anything the matter wid it?"

"I observe," said the pompous policeman, "that yer name is obliterated."

"Then ye're wrong," roared the countryman, who had never come across the long dictionary word before, "for me name's O'Reilly, an' I don't care who knows it."—Tit-Bits.

"Do you think there is anything remarkable in love at first sight?" asked the romantic youth.

"Not at all," answered the cynic. "It's when people have been looking at each other for four or five years that it becomes remarkable."—Washington Star.

HIS OWN SYSTEM.

Two travelers, unknown to each other, were chatting familiarly in one of the compartments of a railway carriage of a Monte Carlo train.

"What a queer way to Monte Carlo, sir, that delightful and exclusive home for all gamblers?"

"That is exactly where I am going." "And you will play just a little, I suppose?"

"I do nothing else, sir. It is my business."

"Gracious! You don't mean to say you make a business of it?"

"Yes, sir; twice a day regularly. And I never by any chance lose."

"In that case, perhaps, you will explain your system to me?"

"Certainly, with pleasure. I play the violin!"—Tit-Bits.

"I suppose, in the collecting business," said the inquisitive man, "nearly every man you go to see asks you to call again."

"Ask me?" replied the collector. "Some of them dare me."—Philadelphia Press.

MY STUDIOUS GIRL.

"Just see!" I cry: "see how she delivers Among the books upon the shelves: No more the novels seem to sate; She seeks for tomes of greater weight."

"She's turned at last from fiction light. And seems to see that it is right. More solid reading should engage The thoughts of one who's reached her age."

This search for knowledge pleases me: Such seriousness I like to see. For frivolous she's been before. And glad I am that time is o'er."

Her mother laughs, for well she knows Just what such actions may disclose. "Your wish," she says, "your mind deceives; The girl is pressing autumn leaves."—Brooklyn Eagle.

An Ottawa small boy who had a birthday Wednesday had a big kick coming on the presents his aunt gave him. "They're two things I never use," he said. "What do I want with a toothbrush and a handkerchief?"—Kansas City Star.

TOOK HIM AT HIS WORD.

A Briton of the consequential species once descended on the British embassy at Washington demanding to see his country's representative. "He's not in," replied Henry Labouchere, who was then an attaché. "Then I'll wait," said the Briton, pompously, seating himself. At the end of half an hour came the query: "When—er—do you—er—expect Lord Lyons back?" "Oh, in six months or so," said the ever-obliging Labouchere: "he left for Europe this morning. But you said you'd wait, you know, and I did not like to contradict you."

WOMAN'S REASONING.

"George, dear," said Mrs. Darley to her husband, as she poured out the tea the other evening, "I drew all my money out of the savings bank today and went shopping with it. I spent every penny."

"But, my dear," protested George, "the understanding was that our savings were to be for a rainy day."

"Precisely," and my dear boy will remember that today was one of the rainiest days we have had for several months."—The New Yorker.

CAN'T FOOL THE SEX.

A young lady from London was visiting for the first time a country farm. Seeing a cow looking very savage, she said to an old farmer: "Oh, how savage that cow looks!"

"Yes, miss, it's the red parrot you are carrying," said the farmer.

"Well," she said, "I knew it was a trifle out of fashion, but I never thought a country cow would notice it."—Tit-Bits.

"On what grounds do you demand a divorce?" asked the lawyer. "Impossible to agree on a name for the new baby," was the reply.—Atlanta Constitution.

SAME OLD FELLOW.

A fond mother impressed upon her infant daughter that when she was naughty it was Satan who made her so. On a subsequent occasion there was an extra disturbance in the nursery, with much stamping of tiny feet and denunciations of the furniture. "Blas," cried her mother, entering the room, "what does this mean?"

"Oh, I s'pose it's your old friend Satan again!"—London Globe.

"What do you suppose is the secret of Miss Bland's social success?" "She always remembers exactly what to forget."—Indianapolis News.

SAME DESIRE.

Some time ago a lady who was a well-known advocate of women's rights was tackled by a blarney young duffer on her favorite subject. Finally her opponent wound up his attack on the pretensions of the aspiring ladies by saying:

"In fact, madam, I think you would like to be a man."

To which she softly replied: "And wouldn't you?"—New York Times.

"So you are really going to marry?" said the first Chicago girl. "Yes," replied the other. "I thought I would for a while."—Philadelphia Press.

CATARRH THIRTY YEARS.

The Remarkable Experience of a Prominent Statesman—Congressman Meekison Gives Pe-ru-na a High Endorsement.

Congressman Meekison of Ohio.

Hon. David Meekison is well known not only in his own State, but throughout America. He was elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress by a very large majority, and is the acknowledged leader of his party in his section of the State.

Only one flaw marred the otherwise complete success of this rising statesman. Catarrh with its insidious approach and tenacious grasp, was his only unconquerable foe. For thirty years he waged unsuccessful warfare against this personal enemy. At last Pe-ru-na came to the rescue. He writes:

"I have used several bottles of Pe-ru-na and I feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer I will be fully able to eradicate the disease of thirty years' standing."—David Meekison, Member of Congress.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Pe-ru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Profit from Alabama Strawberries.

Last season a fruit grower at Castleberry, on the Louisville & Nashville road, in South Alabama, made $1000 net on three acres in strawberries. This was after deducting the whole cost of cultivation, gathering, and everything else, the figures having been verified by General Freight Agent Sheppard of the Louisville & Nashville by an expert examination of his books. Others in that vicinity did almost as well, and the result is that the acreage in strawberries there has been increased from 45 to 300. A good many of the forty-five acres are in young plants, which will make their first crop next season. Of the 255 acres now being set out, 160 acres are being put in by employees of the railroad, who are operating together with the double purpose of developing the business and making money. Some idea of what 300 acres in strawberries means may be gathered from the fact that it will take 3500 pickers to keep up with the gathering, an acre in full bearing requiring twelve pickers. The location is in the pine woods section of Alabama, the soil being a light loam usually with a clay subsoil.—Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution.

Cost of Shah's Tour.

An inference as to the cost of the Shah's tour in Europe may be drawn from the fact that in February, before leaving Teheran, he arranged for a new Persian loan of $5,000,000. His Majesty's holiday in 1900 is said to have cost $2,000,000 apart from large purchases of real estate and artificial jewelry. For the father, the Shah Nasred-Din, spent $10,000,000 during his 6-months' progress through Europe in 1873.

AWARD TO A COLONEL'S WIFE.

One Hundred Thousand Dollars for Government Use of a Tent.

Mrs. Rice, wife of Col. Edmund Rice of the Nineteenth Infantry, received information October 2 that the court of claims will allow her $100,000 for the use the government has made of a patent of hers designed to lessen the labors of the soldier.

Col. Rice is a veteran who has seen forty years of service, and it has always been his aim to relieve his men of as much drudgery as possible, so that they would be in the best possible condition when they were needed for active service. He found the old knapsack both unwieldy and expensive, so he and Mrs. Rice collaborated on an idea that would save the government's money and the soldier's strength. Together they designed a folding tent, with straps and clasps, that would not only contain all of the soldier's outfit, but could be utilized as a cape in rainy weather. It did away with the knapsack entirely. The military authorities saw its advantages and immediately adopted it.

When Col. Rice was appointed military attaché to Japan in 1896 he made the patent, with all prospective profits, over to Mrs. Rice, who will receive the $100,000 allowed by the court of claims, as well as the proceeds derived from its manufacture and sale elsewhere.—San Francisco Examiner.

Woman's Remarkable Feat of Alpinism.

Every year Madame Brasseur, who keeps a little ooca shop at Lyons, France, follows the French Alpine troops during the maneuvers in order to sell cocoa to the soldiers, with whom she keeps up in all their long marches. This year, in the course of a few days, Madame Brasseur made the ascent of Mont Jovet, crossed in deep snow the Col de la Vanoise, reached the summit of Mont Froid in a snowstorm, then accompanied the troops to the top of Mont Cenis, and finally left them at Mont Frejus, after selling out her stock. She then returned home, refilling her basket at Lyons, and walked to Savoy to be present at the grand maneuvers. The profit from all these remarkable feats of Alpinism amounted to barely $20.—Leslie's Weekly.

Fish Bread in Norway.

A great deal is done in Norway to improve and preserve the provisions produced in the country and to procure a market for them abroad. The fisheries represent one of Norway's chief industries, and quantities of fish are sold at very low rates, particularly during summer. One way in which these are utilized is by means of an invention which quickly dries and pulverizes the flesh of fresh fish. The resulting product, called fish flour, is easy to transport from one place to another and has great nutritive value. A new and profitable branch of industry might be established in America by utilizing fish in this way.—Scientific American.

A Valuable Heirloom.

The Duke of Devonshire possesses as an heirloom Claude Lorraine's "Book of Truth," which is said to be one of the rarest and most valuable books in Europe. It is, at any rate, worth six times as much as the famous "Mazarin" Bible, the most costly book in the British Museum. The late duke refused $100,000 for it.

NEKOOSA.

No death has occurred in this section for some time that has cast such universal gloom over the people of our village as that of Walter Graves, which happened at Green Bay last week. He was a most estimable young man who had made a friend of nearly every one during his stay here and the news of his death was a severe shock to those who had been his associates during life. A number of our citizens went to Green Bay on Monday to attend the funeral. The following memorial was adopted by the camp of the Modern Woodmen in this village, of which the deceased was a member:

We are called, almost without warning, to mourn the death of our beloved neighbor and associate, Walter F. Graves. Stricken down in the prime of manhood and at the height of usefulness the blow comes with a severity that can be realized only when time has elapsed in which to measure its force. Only yesterday he was at his post, zealously discharging the duties imposed upon him until the last moment. Today his place among us is vacant forever; the knowledge that

"We shall not see him in his accustomed place, the one beloved face," forces itself through every fibre of body and soul in such an hour, and this camp of Modern Woodmen of which he was an honored and loyal member is bereft indeed. In this hour of grief we pause to pay to his memory the tribute due him for his many sterling qualities, the friendship and love that bound us to him and to recognize in some measure the loss we have suffered.

Walter F. Graves was a man who lived up to his principles. His standard was a high one and he maintained it faithfully. He joined Nekoosa Camp No. 2376, Modern Woodmen of America, in the month of August, 1900, and during the two short years of his membership was an active and valuable member, always ready to advance the interests of the fraternity and always ready and anxious to render assistance and help to a brother Woodman.

To his bereaved family we tender our sincere and earnest sympathy in this their time of sorrow and the hope that God whom he trusted and served so well will afford them the consolation of His divine peace.

"Oh, leave young heart forever still,
Oh, hands once swift to work his will,
On you our human love has lain
The cross of many a year of pain
Of life's long strife and toil in vain,
A love divine has called you home."
"A little while," Oh, hearts that break
In loneliness for his dear sake,
Be comforted, God sends you peace,
While one by one your years increase,
Toward that far day when woes shall cease
And life's lost love be yours again."

As a token of our esteem and regard, be it

Resolved, That in the death of Walter F. Graves this fraternity has lost a valued member and each individual member a true friend, honest and upright in his dealings with everyone, always kind and considerate, yet firm in his convictions and with courage to stand for all things which he believed right and just, his example may well be emulated by us all.

Be it further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the family and placed upon the records of the society.

CRANMOOR.

On Friday evening a farewell party was given at the home of A. E. Bennett in honor of Andrew Bissig, who was going to leave in a few days for the old country. A very pleasant evening was spent by those who attended and they all wished Mr. Bissig a pleasant voyage and a safe return among his friends. Following are the names of those who attended: Mr. and Mrs. A. Searles and Clarence Searles, Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. R. Smith, Misses Harriet Whittlesey, Kittie Cahill, Marie LaBrot, Lily Wagner, Rosa Youskow, Eda Youskow, Marie Youskow, Flora Koch, Etta Hill, and Messrs. Harry Whittlesey, Oscar and Guy Potter, Charles Wescott, Roy Lester, Charles and Ed. Kruger, Charles Wagner, Emil Marx, Louis LeBreche, Joseph Robinson, John Koschinski, and Paul Mann. The music was excellent, LaBreche and Robinson giving their best. Refreshments were served at a late hour and heartily enjoyed. Mr. Bissig left for New York and then Switzerland on the Sunday evening train and takes with him the best wishes of all Cranmoor people.

Miss Kittie Cahill was a down passenger on the noon train Monday and will spend a little time at the Whittlesey home.

Mrs. Whittlesey and Harry and Harriet Whittlesey were Grand Rapids visitors Thursday.

M. O. Potter, wife and son, were out from town Tuesday evening to attend the party.

Timothy Foley spent Sunday at Grand Rapids with relatives and friends.

C. E. Lester has left for a trip as we understand, his destination being New York.

A. E. Bennett has been in attendance on the county board the past week.

Messrs. Chas. Benson and Walter Kelley spent Sunday in Nekoosa.

A Startling Surprise.

Very few could believe in looking at A. T. Hoadley, a healthy, robust blacksmith of Tilden, Ind., that for ten years he suffered such tortures from Rheumatism as few could endure and live. But a wonderful change followed his taking Electric Bitters. "Two bottles wholly cured me," he writes, "and I have not felt a twinge in over a year." They regulate the kidneys, purify the blood and cure the Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervousness, improve digestion and give perfect health. Try them. Only 50 cts. at John E. Daly's drug store.

PITTSVILLE.

E. J. Campbell and Nathan Harris both of Baraboo, also E. P. Fitzgerald of Lena, Ill. and John Higerson of Allegheny, Pa., are parties who have been looking for farms in the vicinity of Pittsville the last few days.

The business men's club will give their fifth annual ball on Friday night at Ring's hall. Hackett's Orchestra of Baraboo will furnish the music.

G. A. and Archie Barrett of Plainfield and F. Blanche of Monroe Center are hunters who are stopping at the Elm Park Hotel.

Wm. H. Clawson of Minocqua was here on Saturday expecting to sell a safe to the Pittsville Bank.

Chas. Smith of Berlin was here last week looking for land and stopped at the Elm Park Hotel.

Mr. E. Herrick and W. Covey who are working at City Point were at home over Sunday.

A great many hunters, lots of rain and no deer is the record up to the present time.

Asleep Amid Flames.

Breaking into a blazing home, some firemen lately dragged the sleeping inmates from death. Fancied security, and death near. Its that way when you neglect coughs and colds. Don't do it Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption gives perfect protection against all Throat, Chest, and Lung Troubles. Keep it near, and avoid suffering, death, and doctor's bills. A teaspoonful stops a late cough, persistent use the most stubborn. Harmless and nice tasting it's guaranteed to satisfy by John E. Daly. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

BABCOCK.

If anyone finds a yellow dog, accompanied by a buckskin pony, with saddle and bridle on, please return to J. J. O'Riley and receive thanks.

Joe Daniels and Grover Stout who are attending the High School in your city spent Sunday at their respective homes.

Miss Irene Styles has returned from her duties at Grand Rapids and will make her home in this village with her parents.

James O'Leary Jr. spent Saturday in town. He gets rather lonely in Tomah. It is all right Jamie, come again.

Mrs. H. M. Hill who has been visiting in Black River Falls for the last month returned home on Monday.

W. F. Nolter our genial grocery man, is attending to his duties in Grand Rapids, on the county board.

Peter Losher and family are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby girl at their home on Sunday morning.

Thos. Brown has moved his family into the house vacated by D. Wells.

Daniel Wells has moved his family to Tomahawk on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lyons spent Sunday in Grand Rapids.

Sam Griffith and wife drove to Pittsville on Saturday.

Wm. Stout has purchased a new piano for his hotel.

Luck in Thirteen.

By sending 13 miles Wm. Spirey of Walton Furnace, Vt., got a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, that wholly cured a horrible fever sore on his leg. Nothing else could. Positively cures Bruises, Felons, Ulcers, Eruptions, Boils, Burns, Corns and Piles. Only 25c. Guaranteed by John E. Daly, druggist.

MARSHFIELD.

Marshfield is undergoing the experience of many other towns throughout the state regarding the smallpox. Health officer Wahl complains that the people of the city do not pay as much attention to the quarantine as they should and as a consequence there continues to be a few cases of smallpox in the city notwithstanding the fact that the authorities make every effort in their power to stamp out the disease. The city council at its last meeting was asked to appoint special officers for purpose of watching houses that are under quarantine.

A petition was presented to the council last meeting asking that a curfew ordinance be passed in this city, and that a bell or whistle be blown every evening at eight o'clock. The matter was referred to the judiciary committee. Several attempts have been made heretofore to have a curfew ordinance passed in this city but the effort always met with defeat.

The wrestling match on Friday evening between Fred Beel of this city and Emil Klank of Omaha, was won by Beel in three straight falls. Klank was the heavier man by about twenty pounds and put up a good game but was unable to down the Marshfield boy. The match was witnessed by a good crowd of enthusiastic spectators.

The plans for sewer system for this city have been completed and placed where they can be inspected by those interested in the matter. The system is necessarily an elaborate one in order to give the city proper service and will cost considerable money to perfect.

Special elections will be held in this city on Wednesday, Nov. 19 for the purpose of electing aldermen in the 4th and 5th wards these officers having removed to other parts of the city.

Wripales are smoothed away by its healing touch. Brain tired and depressed people will find a cure in Rocky Mountain Tea. 35 cents at Johnson & Hill Co.

Startling, but True.

"If every one knew what a grand medicine Dr. King's New Life Pills is," writes D.H. Turner, Dempsters, Pa., "you'd sell all you have in a day. Two weeks use has made a new man of me." Infalible for constipation, stomach and liver troubles. 25c at John E. Daly's drug store.

Remember Friday is Bargain Day Always at the Heineman Merc. Co.'s

We offer this week Friday great bargains in Blankets, Quilts, Pillows, Etc.

This is just the right season of the year for these goods and if you are wise and prudent buyers you won't miss this bargain day sale on these goods. We might go on and enumerate and describe each pair of blankets; telling the size, weight, color, etc.; and then you would not know whether they were Real Bargains or not until you had called and examined them with your own eyes.

Therefore we are going to cut out that part this time and simply ask you to call and see the goods and we will then show you the good points about them and also show you how we can save you a nice little sum on each article. If you are the least bit interested in these articles you will exert yourselves to attend this sale.

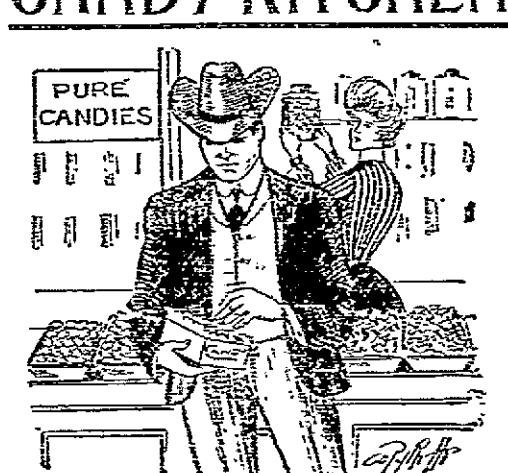

Remember the Date, November 21st, FRIDAY.
